Governor Will Call Special Session if Judges Ask Speed

He'll Act if Redistricting Must Come Before Election

MADISON (AP)—Gov. Gaylord Nelson said today that if a federal panel of judges decides Wisconsin must reapportion its political districts before the election, he will call a special session of the Legislature at once.

"I'll have them in session in two or three days," he said. "I will not wait for Republican legislators to act," Nelson told a news conference.

Raps GOP Plan

He was also critical of the Legislative Council's decision earlier this week to set up a committee to draw a redistricting plan for submission to a session which might then be called, under terms of the 1961 Legislature's recess, by its Republican leaders.

The GOP-controlled council plan, he said, would lead to "a loaded committee that would enable the Republicans to gerrymander the state."

He was especially critical of that part of the council's proposal that would allow Assembly Speaker David Blanchard, R-Edgerton, to appoint the seven public members of the 19-man committee.

On another topic, Nelson showed a sharp difference of opinion with Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds on the question of the sales tax.

Nelson suggested that the Democratic State Convention two weeks hence "face the facts of life" on state tax policy.

If Democrats wipe out the selective sales tax, he said, they

Kennedy Talks Of Force as War Deterrent

Tells West Pointers To be Ready to Fight Or to Prevent Fight

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—President Kennedy told West Point's newly commissioned officers today they must be qualified not only to fight and win wars but also to deter conflict.

Kennedy said at the U.S. Military Academy commencement that "basic problems facing the world are not susceptible of a military solution."

In remarks prepared for the graduation of 601 cadets, the President said U.S. forces must perform more than military roles in their future assignments. He described these "as a complement to our diplomacy—as a deterrent to our adversaries—as a symbol to our Allies—as ambassadors of good will and good works around the globe."

Must Know Limits

counsel to the cadets:

"You will need to understand the importance of military power and also the limits of military power—to decide when arms should be used to fight and when they should be used to prevent a fight—to determine what represents our vital interests and what is only marginal. Above all, you will have a responsibility to deter wars as well as to fight and win them."

Kennedy said the wide range of military responsibilities now required capacity for a wholly different kind of force, leadership and training. It is misleading, he declared, to call this "the nuclear age" or to contend that national security rests only on a capacity for "massive retaliation."

Since World War II, Kennedy recalled, men have fought and died in Korea, Malaya, Greece, the Philippines, Algeria, Cuba, Cyprus, and the Indo-Chinese peninsula.

In all those places, he said, they have waged war without massive weapons—war in which major forces were guerrillas, subversives, insurgents and assassins.

Regents Name 2 to UW Board of Visitors

MADISON (AP)—The University of Wisconsin Board of Regents elected Mrs. Robert D. Johns of La Crosse and Dale R. Clark of Ashland to the University Board of Visitors Tuesday.

Clark will serve the three years remaining on the term of Sam E. Cole of Madison who resigned. Mrs. Johns succeeds Mrs. John Lohb of Milwaukee to a full four-year term.

U. S., Canadian Leaders Commemorate Start of War of 1812

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The 150th anniversary of the start of the War of 1812 was observed Tuesday by civic leaders from both sides of the U.S.-Canadian border.

Mayor Chester Kowal of Buffalo described relations between the two countries as "that rare gift of compatibility...based on the dignity and brotherhood of man under the fatherhood of God."

Toronto's Mayor Nathan Phillips said the countries "should emphasize those things we have in common," and warned against those he called "bushyodies in both countries who are trying to make trouble."

Democrats Give Brown Big Complimentary Vote In Governorship Primary

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel drew a lopsided party vote in withstanding a highly vocal right-wing challenge for his candidacy for another six years in Washington. The results, he said, showed that the voters "want a Republican party in the Lincoln tradition."

Two Birchites Win

Two Republican congressmen who belong to the John Birch Society won re-nomination, however. Voters selected party candidates from 38 congressional districts in all.

Kuchel, a protégé of former Gov. Earl Warren, easily defeated two ultra-conservatives who charged he was too pro-Democratic.

GOP Convention Picks Insurance Man for Governor

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Connecticut Republicans picked John Alsop, 46-year-old insurance company president, as their candidate for governor or early today after a 10-hour fight.

Alsop, brother of writers Stewart Alsop and Joseph Alsop, triumphed by 20 votes over former State Chairman Edwin H. May Jr. on a breathtaking eighth ballot at 1:30 a.m.

But May, 38-year-old former congressman, left the threat of a primary hanging over the party. Under the state's primary law, he can take a convention decision to the voters. He said he wanted to get some rest before announcing his decision.

At first, six candidates were in the race to elect the GOP nod to oppose Democratic Gov. John N. Dempsey, who is expected to be nominated at his party's convention next month.

Estes Hearing Set for June 27

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee will open on June 27 its hearings into the Billie Sol Estes case.

Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., announcing the date today, estimated that 100 witnesses may be called. He said hearings are expected to last "possibly for several weeks."

Estes, the Texas financier who built a financial empire on grain storage, fertilizer sales, cotton growing and other businesses, says he is now bankrupt.

Murder Suspect Will Stand Trial

Majid Amini Poufard Loses Bid To Have Charges Dismissed

BY DICK McDANIEL Post-Crescent Staff Writer

STEVENS POINT — A dismissal motion by defense attorneys was denied by County Judge James Levi here Tuesday afternoon as Majid Amini Poufard, 27, a Stevens Point State College student from Tehran, Iran, was bound over to the next term of Circuit Court to face first degree murder charges.

Judge Levi, however, said it was not his duty as magistrate during the preliminary hearing to determine the degree of the crime. He said the evidence indicated Albert Dombrowski, 28, Town of Amherst, received fatal injuries inflicted by Amini on the morning of May 18 at Morey's Bar, Town of Hull, three miles northeast of Stevens Point.

The judge said Dombrowski died within a period of two or three hours after the injuries were inflicted. "It appears probable that a crime has been committed and the evidence is sufficient to have the defendant bound over to the next term of Circuit Court of Portage County," he added.

No Access

Judge Levi referred the setting of the bond to Circuit Court Judge Herbert A. Runde.

An attempt by defense attorneys, Bryon Crowns and Morgan Midthun, Wisconsin Rapids, to have access to the evidence and statements gathered by Sheriff Emil Meshak and Nick Check, the sheriff's chief deputy, was denied by Judge Levi in the closing action of the hearing.

Crowns called Check and Sheriff Meshak to the stand and asked them to produce the evidence they had collected. Check said he had no evidence in his possession.

Dist. Atty. John Haka stopped a move to recall Sheriff Meshak to the stand by indicating all evidence collected in the investigation was in his possession. He quoted a State Supreme Court decision which stated the evidence in the district attorney's possession need not be made available to the defense until time of trial.

Judge Levi agreed with Haka and indicated the evidence would be made available at the time of the trial.

No Time Sequence

Just what happened on the early morning of May 18 at Morey's Bar was not chronologically outlined. Neither the prosecution nor defense presented summaries before the end of the hearing.

Thirteen witnesses were called to the stand and each testified on what they saw and heard.

Beebe, Noted Naturalist, Stricken at 84

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—Funeral arrangements were incomplete today for Dr. William Beebe, 84-year-old naturalist and explorer who won fame for his daring dives to the ocean floor in a bathysphere.

Dr. Beebe died Monday night at the tropical research station he founded here in 1945 and was sent to the New York Zoological Society, with which he had long been associated. He had been in ill health for some years.

Beebe was best known for his ocean descents in the 1930s. His drop to the Atlantic floor off Bermuda in 1934, a depth of 3,028 feet, was a record that stood for nearly 20 years.

To the scientific world Beebe was also known for nearly 100 animals and birds named after him and for his 22 widely translated books and hundreds of scientific papers.

A native of Brooklyn, Beebe became curator of birds at the Bronx Zoo at its opening in 1899 and the next year began a long series of zoological expeditions.

He made his first trip to the Caribbean in 1908 and later became an authority on the region's underwater life. He began his oceanographic expeditions in 1925 and continued them until 1939, exploring the waters around the Galapagos Islands, the West Indies and Haiti.

He is survived by his second wife, the former Elswyth Thane, in a car.

Illinois Police Chase Robber Over Wisconsin Line, Bring Him Back

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP)—A man nabbed by Illinois police in Wisconsin has been charged with armed robbery of a tavern in Illinois' Lake County.

Illinois police chased Ray Lortger, 31, of Kenosha, Wis., into Wisconsin Tuesday, seized him and returned him to Illinois after he waived extradition.

Police said Lortger is accused of taking $600 to $700 from John's Corner Tavern near Zion, Lortger was held in Lake County Jail.

Lortger, police said, had $600 when he was arrested driving a car a mile north of the Illinois-Wisconsin line in Kenosha County. Police Sgt. Estelle Mahry of Winthrop Harbor, north of Waukegan, and other officers curbed the car after chasing Lortger into Wisconsin.

John Lyon, 47, operator of the tavern, told police a man brandishing a pistol took about $1,000 from his establishment, then fled in a car.

Arizona Grads Hear Romney

"You must do what you can," he said, "to keep our country from expiring on the bed of luxury and misspent leisure."

Execution Delayed

Jouhaud Appeals to Secret Army For End of Terrorism in Algeria

PARIS (AP)—Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud apparently won a reprieve with the dawn, the traditional hour for execution in France, it appeared that Jouhaud's appeal had at least won him more time.

Jouhaud addressed his appeal from his death row cell to ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, himself behind bars facing a life sentence as the leader of the secret army and the generals' revolt. He urged Salan to face up to the inevitability of Algerian independence, to order secret army killers to holster their guns and let Algeria's Moslems live in peace.

Clemency Rejected

Some quarters believed, however, that Jouhaud had saved his own life with the appeal. De Gaulle was angered when a French tribunal failed to give Salan—once France's most decorated soldier—the death sentence because of "extenuating circumstances." To keep from sending Jouhaud to his death while his terrorist boss lived, the president several days ago made known he might spare Jouhaud if European terrorism slackened in Algeria.

An informed French source said officials had delivered Jouhaud's appeal to Salan, but up to noon there was no indication that Salan had made any response to it or planned to.

The source said De Gaulle still had not decided whether to spare Jouhaud's life. Other sources conceded Jouhaud's appeal made "things look a little more favorable for him."

UW Regents Okay Marshfield Center

Decision on Similar School In Nearby Wisconsin Rapids Deferred After Public Hearing

MADISON (AP) — Establishment of a University of Wisconsin extension center in Marshfield, Wis., was approved Tuesday by university regents, who deferred a decision on a similar institution at Wisconsin Rapids, 20 miles away.

The board of regents acted after a public hearing at which both Marshfield and Wisconsin Rapids requested centers.

The decision to establish the Marshfield Center is subject to review by the Coordinating Committee on Higher Education and must be approved by the State Building Commission. A tentative completion date was set for the fall of 1965.

Favors Two Centers

The Wood County Board favors centers in both cities and has agreed to put up $350,000 for land and buildings for each center. Marshfield has agreed to add $350,000 for the center, which would be equipped and staffed by the university.

Wisconsin Rapids has said it is willing to appropriate additional funds, but has not yet done so. The regents indicated in their review of the Wisconsin Rapids request that they wanted to look into the possible effect of a center on nearby Stevens Point State College and await some decision on the future of Wood County Teachers College in Wisconsin Rapids.

The regents also approved contracts totaling $1.7 million for the first phase of the union community center at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. And in other action, residence hall rates at UWM were raised from $650 to $680 for the academic year beginning next fall.

Grant Accepted
The seventh annual Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation grant of more than $1.5 million was accepted by the regents. The foundation gets its income from patents on products developed by university scientists.

The university administration was authorized by the regents to negotiate for the purchase of the Wisconsin Neurological Foundation, which has been losing money in recent years and will close the 15th of this month. The foundation offered its facilities to the university for $709,000.

Gov. Gaylord Nelson said in a letter to the regents that the foundation's building, land and equipment were worth $1.1 million. He said that of the total about $742,000 was from state and federal funds.

Nelson said he would be willing to suggest consideration of the purchase proposal by the State Building Commission if "we can purchase the hospital for the appraised valuation less public funds invested." That would mean a price of about $410,000.

Ex-Soldier Mentally Ill, Cannot be Tried For Passing Secrets
KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)—A federal judge ruled Tuesday that ex-soldier George John Gessner is mentally ill and cannot stand trial now on a charge of giving nuclear secrets to the Russians.

Judge Arthur J. Stanley Jr. sent Gessner, 25, back to the U.S. Medical Center at Springfield, Mo., for treatment.

Gessner, formerly of Homestead, Pa., is accused of telling officials of the Soviet Embassy in Mexico City about the firing systems of two gun-type nuclear weapons.

Gessner went to Mexico City after deserting Dec. 7, 1960 from Ft. Bliss, Tex., where he was a nuclear weapons maintenance specialist. He served a term at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., for desertion.

ent crop trouble and has drawn on Poland.

One of the biggest problems facing the meeting is the Common Market, whose increasing power and self sufficiency has begun to eat into markets normally available to Czechoslovakia and other Communist countries.

The increasing power of the Common Market has raised Communist eyebrows. Communist leaders have long preached that the private enterprise systems of the West are bound to fail. Instead they are expanding more rapidly than the Communist areas with the possible exception of the Soviet Union itself.

'Psychological' Tax Reduction May be Tried

Kennedy Discussing Matter With His Economic Advisers

Chicago Daily News Service
WASHINGTON — An income tax reduction purely for psychological purposes is under consideration at the White House.

President Kennedy is expected to discuss the matter today at a meeting with some of his economic advisers.

J. Kenneth Galbraith, the U.S. ambassador to India, will attend the meeting. He is in Washington on a brief visit.

Galbraith, a Harvard economist distinguished for some unique ideas, believes that the depression that followed the 1929 stock market crash fed upon itself.

Galbraith Theory
The Galbraith theory of that depression puts much of the blame on the cumulative fear of consumers, whose caution in making purchases accelerated the economic decline, which in turn generated more consumer caution.

This theory is expected to be argued before President Kennedy as justification for an immediate tax reduction to remove the fears generated among the buying public by the recent crash of security prices on Wall Street.

C. Douglas Dillon, the Secretary of the Treasury, and Walter W. Heller, head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, also are expected to attend the White House meeting today.

The tax cut, if proposed by the President, would have as its only purpose the encouragement of consumer spending.

Traditional reasons for an income tax reduction are lacking at the moment.

Disposable personal income reached a record high of $378.2 billion in the first quarter of 1962. This was $13 billion higher than the average for 1961.

Consumer credit, another measure of buying habits, also resumed its steady rise in the early months of the year. This, Victor recording team and an figure reflects the installment buying binge that has been reaching new heights every year for the past decade.

In 1952, consumer credit outstanding totaled $27,520,000,000. In 1961, it reached the total of $57,139,000,000.

Beating of Korean by U.S. Army Officers Draws Protest

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—A thousand students defied a martial law ban on demonstrations today and marched on the U.S. Embassy to protest the beating of a Korean by two American Army officers.

A triple row of police jeeps blocked their march before the students reached the embassy, and the students withdrew after an appeal by Maj. Gen. Kim Chin-woo, commander of the Seoul garrison. Then they split into small groups and tried to reach the embassy through alleys and side streets.

Again they were met by police, who arrested more than 100 of the demonstrators. There was no violence late last month.

It was the first student demonstration since the May 1961 coup put South Korea under military rule. The march coincided with the Memorial Day holiday honoring the 140,000 South Koreans who died in the Korean War.

The students demanded speedy conclusion of a status of forces agreement giving South Korea jurisdiction over U.S. military personnel who commit offenses while off duty.

The U.S. Army has charged two lieutenants—Davis W. Swanson, 25, of Galesburg, Ill., and Thomas M. Wilde, 25, of Wadsworth, Ill.—with severely beating a South Korean caught stealing at a front line base late last month.

Kennedy Heavily Sarcastic

Medicare Bill Debate Growing Ill-Tempered

BY PETER LISAGOR

Chicago Daily News Service

WASHINGTON — Doctors may be in heavy demand around here if the debate over medical care for the aged grows any more caustic and ill tempered.

Congressmen are calling one another names, President Kennedy is challenging the veracity of the American Medical Assn., and vice versa, and the National Council of Senior Citizens is up in arms.

Former Rep. Aime Forand, 26, president of the council formed to support the administration's proposal for medical aid to those over 65 through Social Security financing, says his group will answer "hour by hour" the AMA's campaign of "massive deceit."

Debate Kept Alive
Mr. Kennedy promised to keep the debate alive at his news conference scheduled for 3 p.m. CDT Thursday.

In a letter to AMA President Leonard W. Larson, the Chief Executive said that "if your organization did not oppose Social Security before its enactment — only afterwards — I will be glad to point out this unique distinction at my next press conference."

Larson had written to the President on May 25 disputing an assertion by Mr. Kennedy that the AMA was opposed to the Social Security program in the 1930's.

Disdainful Note
The President disdainfully noted that he had received the Larson letter "which I read with interest in the newspapers of May 26."

Then the President, with heavy sarcasm, said that if the Larson letter endorses Social Security and signifies a willingness to include doctors under its provisions, it would be "enthusiastically welcomed" by the American people.

Presidential aides dug up old quotes in the journal of the AMA that expressed disapproval of Social Security, and the president quoted them to Larson in his letter to the AMA head.

Same Position
From his home in Bismarck, N.D., Larson clung to his position that the AMA did not oppose the original Social Security legislation. It testified, Larson said, only to those portions of the bill dealing with health services, which it favored.

Meanwhile, in the House tempers flared so violently that an old rule prohibiting personal insults was invoked by Rep. Thompson. He said that if Larson refused to stand so that I had to sleep in the shed with a car. She threatened to go to the police and tell them about my first job if I didn't continue."

Gibson, 25, admitted burglary and car stealing. The court jailed him for six months.

Korean Court Record
SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—District Judge Choe Man-haeng set a record for Korean courts Tuesday. Between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. he tried 5,196 persons accused of petty crimes, convicted 4,534 and collected 12 million hwan ($2,200—in fines).

Wife Blamed for Life of Crime
SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP)—On trial for theft, Thomas Gibson pleaded that his wife locked him out of the house at night unless he brought home loot.

Gibson told the court, "when I refused to steal she would lock me out at night so that I had to sleep in the shed with a car. She threatened to go to the police and tell them about my first job if I didn't continue."

Gibson, 25, admitted burglary and car stealing. The court jailed him for six months.

Proposed La Crosse TV Tower Described As 'Definite Hazard'

1,626 Foot Structure Would Be One of World's Tallest

MADISON (AP) — A 1,626-foot transmitter tower planned by Gerald Leonard of Milwaukee said he had received about 20 written communications opposing the tower.

The opinion was presented by Fritz Wolf, a consultant of the State Aeronautics Commission which conducted a 12-hour hearing to gather testimony on the proposed tower. The structure would be the tallest in the state and one of the highest in the world.

The commission expects to deliver its findings in about a month. The Federal Aviation Agency said last January the tower would be safe for navigation.

Flight Flyway
Wolf, one of more than a half dozen opposition witnesses heard during the afternoon, said the tower would be on a visual flight flyway between Chicago, Milwaukee and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

"I think it would be a definite hazard on this active travel route," Wolff said.

Also opposing the tower were spokesmen for the Wisconsin Pilots' Association, the National Pilots' Association and three witnesses holding private pilot licenses. Commission Chairman

Pilots Protest
Kingsley Meisel of the Milwaukee suburb of Shorewood, secretary-treasurer of the Wisconsin Pilots' Association, opposed the tower because of its height and nearness to flight routes.

Under cross examination he said the tower could serve as a good marker to check locations by pilots "because they could see it."

Earlier spokesmen for WBKT Television Inc., owner of the station, said the tower is needed for competitive reasons and said it would not be an obstacle for aviation.

Lowell R. Wright of Washington, D.C., who said he had spent 25 years with federal aviation agencies, said the tower would have no bearing in plane accidents.

Lawrence Says Nikita Avoids Fundamental Economic Law Wage-Price Spiral Catching Up With Russian Economy

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — The fundamentals of economic law catch up sooner or later with everybody — including Nikita Khrushchev. He now has discovered, as many theorists do from time to time, that the realm of so-called "liberalism" or in the precincts of Communism — that two and two make four and not some arbitrary total. For the wage-price spiral has caught up with the Soviet Union's artificial manipulation of the economy.

Now, as a consequence, butter sells at $1.60 a pound. Meat and meat products have been pushed up in cost by 30 per cent.

Coincidentally, the head of the Soviet government has announced that, while prices are going up, wages must be held down. He has authorized a 35 per cent increase in prices to farmers and proclaimed solemnly that wages cannot be allowed to go up to meet the high cost of living.

"What would happen," he said in a public speech, "if we boosted prices and boosted pay? There would be more money but there wouldn't be more to eat. You must understand that and explain it to those who don't understand it."

Right Decision
"Comrades, a year or two will pass and you will see that the decision we have taken is right." Mr. Khrushchev admitted the decision was forced on him, but he said it was due to the "menace of the imperialists" who, he claimed, would like to see the Soviets "put a brake on the development of our industry and to cut our defenses." He argued that "if we are weak, a new war will take millions and millions from us" and that hence preparations for defense are imperative.

Here is a totalitarian government with full power to regulate the national economy. But it apparently cannot let wage increases go on indefinitely without doing something to raise prices. In this instance, unlike what is happening in America, the Soviets deliberately increase prices and forbid wage increases.

It's only a question of time when fundamentals of natural law will catch up with the Soviet premier on this one, too. He cannot keep a nation of workers happy by holding down their pay indefinitely. He has discovered that farmers must have an incentive to produce, and the only way to encourage production is to hike the selling prices that are authorized.

Point Clarified
The point is made clear by Lazar Volin, a Russian-born specialist on Soviet agriculture who is head of a research unit in the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He says:

"When the magic touch of incentives and property are applied to Soviet agriculture, it prospers. But when there are no rewards for extra effort and when decisions that should be made by farmers are dictated by government officials, Soviet agriculture withers like an undernourished plant."

Eventually, the many millions of workers in the factories will become discontented and demand more wages in order to meet the cost of living. In America there are many businesses which grant automatic pay increases when the cost-of-living index goes up. Natural law eventually brings about a widespread demand for higher pay to meet higher living costs, just as natural law causes the manufacturers to seek higher earnings by higher prices so as to pay their expenses and the cost of borrowed or invested capital. Conditions may seem to be different under a Communist dictatorship from those in a democracy, but basically natural law operates the same way.

Guns, Not Butter
It has been said that Mr. Khrushchev has just chosen "guns instead of butter" and that this indicates he has war in the back of his mind. But the democracies maintain their guns without sacrificing butter. The two doctrines are being practiced by the East and West, respectively, in a time of so-called "peace." In active war, of course, even the democracies, through wage-and-price controls, sacrifice butter for guns. The big question now is whether the sacrifices of wartime will continue to be made by the Soviet people when there is no active war going on. As the United States wisely pursues its policy of trying to reduce international tensions and discusses ways and means of preventing a nuclear war, the people of the Soviet Union sooner or later must come to the same conclusion that many Americans have — that each side can destroy the other and that war can become international suicide. With peace becoming more of a probability, the economic situation inside the Soviet Union must inevitably grow more and more unsatisfactory to the people and produce unrest and even revolution.

Landing Craft Sinks, No Deaths
BOSTON (AP)—A Navy landing craft sank in Boston harbor Tuesday and the seven men aboard were picked up by the Boston pilot boat.
The craft had gone to the outer harbor to dump refuse from the icebreak Atka when, because of a mechanical defect, it took too much water and sank.
The Coast Guard dispatched boats and helicopters to the scene. Boston police issued two separate calls for ambulances and emergency vehicles to the Coast Guard base as word was received the men were being brought in.
The men, wearing life jackets, were picked up by the pilot boat Roseway.

Don't Feel Inferior

Too Healthy?—Chances Are You Have Phobias

BY HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Do you sometimes worry because you are too healthy?

Do you have an inferiority complex because you are too normal? Do you secretly envy a neighbor who comes down with a strange and interesting new disease?

Cheer Up
Well, cheer up. The chances are that you suffer from a number of high-sounding ailments your neighbor never heard about—and you weren't even aware of yourself.

They are called phobias, and the medical dictionaries list at least 280 of them. New ones keep springing up all the time.

Let's look at a few examples:
Do you dislike sitting in a draft?

because you think it may give you a cold? My boy, there's no doubt about it. You've got aerophobia.

Pedestrian Fears
Are you a pedestrian? It's an odds-on bet then that you suffer from geophyrophobia, or fear of crossing the street.

How about when you are driving your car? Do you try to beat the traffic lights? That's a sure sign of ereuthophobia, or fear of the color red.

Like most husbands, you probably sulk when your wife buys an expensive dress. That's certain evidence of atrophobia, or fear of ruin, in this case financial.

Golfing Woes
Probably you stew and fret when your golfing buddy starts off the game with a 250-yard drive. You know what's gnawing at you? Nothing but rhaphophobia, the fear of being beaten.

Does symphony music bore you? Well, deep in your subconscious mind, you are probably a victim of aulophobia, the fear of hearing flutes being played.

Naturally, as does practically everyone, you brood over the possibility of atomic disaster. This is scientifically known as ballistophobia, the fear of missiles.

Barking Dogs
Do you back away from a barking dog? You've been swept by odontophobia, or fear of animals' teeth, and perhaps also by cynophobia, the simple fear of any dog.

It is likely that you groan aloud when your wife asks you to help her rearrange the living room furniture. That's because you have been stricken with a double ailment—ataxiophobia, the fear of disorder; and ergasiophobia, the fear of work.

Are you superstitious about the number 13? The highbrows call that fear triskaidekaphobia.

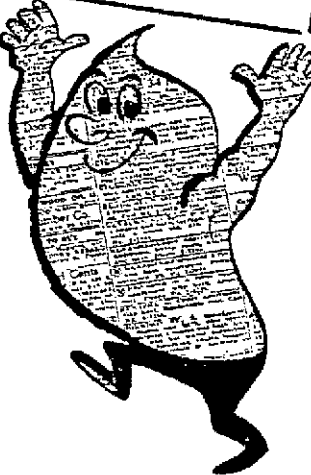

Lending Money
You wouldn't be sensible if you didn't hate to lend money to an office deadbeat. That is aphephobia, the fear of being touched.

So don't worry about being too healthy or normal. Man, you're sick, sick, sick. You're a walking bundle of phobias.

But the chances are there's at least one phobia you don't have that's chrematophobia—the fear of having too much money.

The School Bus Decision

The Wisconsin Supreme Court decision declaring unconstitutional the law passed at the last session of the legislature which authorized the transportation of all school children at public expense certainly settles that problem for another decade or so. But we suspect that it will come up again since the decision was not unanimous and certainly is open to dispute.

The law as it was adopted was practically unworkable. It provided for bus transportation for all children to the public school which they were authorized to attend at the expense of the district and the state. Parochial officials generally took as dim a view of the law as did district officials striving to find a way to make it work. The problem of scattered children and inequities was great. But the law was so written to indicate that there was no greater expense involved than if all the children actually did attend the public school.

Mr. Rennebohm and the UW

It would be presumptuous and it would be resented if a newspaper editorial suggested to the faculty of the University of Wisconsin names suitable for designation for honorary degrees.

Nor is there any intention here to transgress upon the hallowed perquisites of the educators.

But they may not object, we hope, if it is noted here that a considerable body of opinion in this state is pleased with the selection of one of Wisconsin's own leaders and most productive citizens, Mr. Oscar Rennebohm, for the tribute of an honorary degree that is given to only a handful of men and women each year.

The honorary degree process has been Wisconsin's Constitution states that no man shall "be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry, against his consent . . . nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of religious societies. . . ." The majority of court members presumably believed that the bus transportation law would be requiring everyone to pay taxes for the support of the various churches which operate schools.

The justices must then believe that transportation to school is an aid to the schools rather than to the children so transported. If this is so perhaps the legislature should reconsider the entire transportation law which we always thought was to give assistance to youngsters who lived more than 2½ miles from a school.

The decision will stand for some time but it is still wide open for discussion.

cheaper in some institutions of the country, but happily our University of Wisconsin faculty has chosen with discrimination and taste over the years. Let the record show, nevertheless, that we believe our own state contains enough men of distinction, creative effort and civic service to warrant an occasional degree for one of our own.

Mr. Rennebohm's life and career have represented the finest of our traditions of self-reliance, unselfish public service, professional and business success through hard work and enterprise, and a deep commitment to good government and higher education. We congratulate him for his honor and the university for its perspicacity in awarding it.

How People Are Represented in Congress

If the court cases relating to reapportionment should require Congressional districts be based strictly upon population, the districting of House seats in may states will have to be changed.

Rep. John B. Bennett, R-Mich., represents 177,431 people in the House while Rep. Bruce Alger, R-Tex., represents 951,527 or more than five times as many. The Bennett district has the smallest population of any in the United States while Alger's district has the largest. Both of the representatives are Republicans and oddly enough the small district is in Michigan where the Republican legislature is in control and the Texas representative is in Dallas which is an island of Republicanism in a Democratic state.

The struggle in reapportionment campaigns, however, is not strictly between Republicans and Democrats but between rural and urban areas regardless of party affiliation. The 20 largest districts in the United States have a total population of 13,941,475 which is about three times as many people as the 20 smallest districts with a total of 4,550,618. The average population in the largest districts is 697,074 which is 69.8 per cent above the average of 410,481 for all Congressional districts. The average population of the 20 smallest districts is 227,531 or 44.6 per cent less than the U.S. average.

Of the 20 largest districts, 11 have Democratic representatives and 9 Republican. Of the smallest 20, 14 of the representatives are Democratic and 9 Republican while one is politically marginal. The real difference, however, between the largest and the smallest district lies in their urban or rural complexes. The 20 largest districts are 43.3 per cent urban, 36.8 per cent suburban and 19.9 per cent rural. The smallest 20 districts are 2.8 per cent urban, .5 per cent suburban and 96.7 rural. Of the 20 largest districts, 7 are rural cities and of the 20 smallest 11 are in rural areas of the south.

Wisconsin might have some problems of its own if districting on a strictly population basis should be required. With 3,951,777 persons living in the state, according to the 1960 census, the average population for the 10 districts would be 395,178 people. The largest district is the Second with 530,316 population or 34.2 per cent above the state average. The two Milwaukee districts, the Fourth and Fifth, are respectively 30.4 per cent and 31.8 per cent above the state average. The Eighth district which includes Outagamie County, is 4.2 per cent above while the smallest district is O'Konski's Tenth which has 236,870 population and is 40.1 per cent below the state average.

One thing that can be said with certainty is that neither party has any special claim to virtue in the matter of redistricting. In the states where the Republicans predominate the smallest districts tend to be held by Republicans while in the Democratic states the smallest districts tend to be held by Democrats. There are exceptions to this rule because of the rural versus urban struggle in which every Congressman fights for himself and in some instances a certain amount of trading permits a variation from the party rule. One reason Wisconsin was not redistricted this year was that neither party favored it because there was an uncertainty as to which might lose or which might gain in any such undertaking.

Reality Comes in a Box

Recently a father took his four-year-old son to his first major league baseball game at Milwaukee County Stadium. They arrived early and had hardly settled in their seats when the teams ran out on the field.

"Who let them out of the box?" inquired the boy.

He was used to watching baseball on TV with his father Saturday afternoons. The fact that baseball players existed in the real had never crossed his mind.

The story reminds of one of similar vein 20-odd years ago in the earlier days of radio. A small boy heard the announcer says: "This is KMOX, the Voice of St. Louis."

"I thought he was dead," the boy commented.

Such are the problems of our electronic age. Reality today is a TV screen, a movie film, a stereophonic recorder. The impressions the young get of life are condensed and fed to them over the air waves and through a box.

In our youth we learned about reality through intimate contact with nature. Today a youngster can see and hear about everything in the world without leaving the living room.

What Others are Saying

China, Cuba Invasions Highly Risky Business

From The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

Chiang Kai-Shek, the aging generalissimo of Formosa, is chafing at the bit for a go at Communist China. And in Florida, there are renewed reports of Cuban exiles training surreptitiously for another strike at Cuba, although this time as infiltrators and guerrillas and not as assault troops.

Those are both delicate situations in which the U. S. Government obviously should tread with extreme care. To give Chiang or the exiles undue encouragement by holding out hope of aid of any sort or backing in any ambitious invasion attempts might only intensify the dangers posed by untimely actions in either case.

Chiang recently told a youth rally on Formosa that "the anti-Communist revolution on the mainland and the expedition from Taiwan to save our people and punish the traitors may come at any time." He has threatened to unleash his forces many times in the past, but some observers detect a higher note of urgency in Chiang's fiery threats this time.

If so, there may be two reasons for it. He is now 74, and must realize that if he's ever going to set foot on the mainland of China again, it will have to be soon. Secondly, Chiang claims to be receiving reports of growing unrest and discontent in China that make it ripe for cracking now or shortly.

In view of the unreliability in the past of many so-called intelligence reports out of Red China, however, who knows for sure just how much unrest there is or how close the Chinese peasants are to rebelling? Until it is known for certain that China is in a state of revolution or collapse, or until its troops are committed heavily on some other front, the U. S. should insist upon invoking the letter of the 1954 bilateral treaty with Chiang calling for our approval of any mainland venture he may have in mind. As United Nations forces found out in Korea, the Red Chinese Army is no pushover.

As for the Cuban exiles now crawling through the Everglades in sharpening their guerrilla talents, there should be no need to point up the possible pitfalls in another such campaign. The memory of the ill-fated Bay of Pigs fiasco is too fresh in memory for that.

Looking Backward

Did Union Win or Rebels Lose?

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for June 14, 1862.

Our forces are in possession of Memphis! The flotilla consisting of five gunboats and eight rams left Fort Wright at 2 o'clock Thursday (June 5). Finding no opposition from Fort Randolph, the flotilla passed on. At 8 p.m. Thursday, the gunboats anchored two miles above Memphis, the rams remaining a short distance above.

During the night, the rebel fleet moved down the river and when daylight appeared they were out of sight, but in half an hour afterwards they were seen coming up, formed in line of battle. Our gunboats had, in the meantime, weighed anchor and followed by several rams moved slowly toward the rebel fleet. When a shot from the Little Rebel fell within a short distance of the Cairo, which was in the advance, the Cairo replied with a broadside.

The rams had, in the meantime, advanced and the rebel ram Beauregard was singled out by the Federal rams Monarch and Queen of the West, each striving to be first to strike the rebel craft. The Monarch succeeded in striking her amidship, almost cutting her in two, causing her to sink immediately in the channel directly opposite the city.

At this juncture the rebels made a dash at the Monarch, which was by this time in the midst of the rebel fleet. By a skillful movement by the pilot she dropped out of the way and the (Rebel) blow intended for her struck instead the rebel General Price, taking away her wheel and making it necessary for her to run ashore, where she sent a shot, which unfortunately struck the rebel Gen. Lovell, rendering her unmanageable and immediately afterward she was run down by the Federal Queen of the West.

A broadside from the Benton (Union) took effect in the side of the Jeff. Thompson. She ran ashore in flames and soon after burned at the water's edge.

Four of the rebel boats being disabled, the remainder of their fleet retreated down the river pushed by our boats, firing as they advanced, which resulted in the capture of the Sumpter, Bragg and Little Rebel, which had been abandoned by most of their crews. Most of the officers and men succeeded in making their escape in the woods on the Arkansas shore.

The Federal ram Lancaster was struck by the Beauregard in the early part of the engagement and she was slightly disabled. Col. Elliott, commander of the Federal rams, was struck in the breast by a splinter and was stunned temporarily, but soon recovered and continued on deck throughout the action. This is only casualty on our side.

Rebel loss — 7 ships, 24 guns, 100 prisoners, 100 killed, wounded and drowned. Federal loss — 1 wounded.

Memphis, June 7 — since the formal surrender of the city yesterday and the posting of pickets throughout the city, the excitement of the people has subsided. All was quiet during last night.

The only event this morning was the capture of the rebel steamer Check, which eluded the fleet yesterday above the city by running up the slough and out of sight. She was brought down this morning.

Nothing yet heard of the boat Van Dorn, which was the only boat of the rebel fleet that escaped.

Mrs. Alex Heiman was installed as the new president of Zion Temple Sisterhood at the annual spring luncheon. The hostess for the occasion was retiring president Mrs. Fred Marshall.

Albert C. Hiddé, Menasha, was elected president of the Menasha-Menasha Chamber of Commerce, succeeding George Sande.

Old Wisdom Still Good

Beer for Students Comes From State Law

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your recent editorial on Teen-Age Beer Parties hit the nail in several respects.

Perhaps this thought might be pertinent to this discussion, which, by the way, is statewide: When our state requires compulsory school attendance until

He Agrees With Editorial About Mrs. Roosevelt

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Along with the Post editorial of Sunday, June 3, I too, would like to take issue with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in her demands that there should be no live coverage of future astronaut flights until the flights are successfully completed.

Her fear that a possible failure and the resultant propaganda value to the Russians may be a genuine fear. But it is also possible that the befuddled and sometimes pinkish Mrs. Roosevelt deplores the publicity given to the astronauts because it puts her beloved Russia in a bad light in the eyes of the rest of the world.

Not too long ago Mrs. Roosevelt came up with another gem. In commenting on a beating which a pupil administered to a teacher in a classroom, she deplored the fact that situations exist where a student is forced to beat up his teacher. The fault must lie with the teaching profession and not with the young hoodlum who did the beating.

So spoke the gracious lady. As Wm. Buckley stated, Mrs. Roosevelt is one of the world's greatest women but she is also a "fountain of confusion."

At least she is always good for a laugh.

State Problems and Questions to Ask Of the Candidates

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The news offices of Wisconsin during the next four or five months will receive a daily blizzard of press releases from the candidates for state office anxiously trying to tell the voters in the fall elections what they propose to do if they are elected.

According to the judgment of the editors handling them, a couple of thousands of these items will reach print and some of them will be read and reflected about by the serious voter.

They will be of two kinds: condemning the opposition party and the rival candidate for office; and making promises about grand reforms and the installation of new benefits at the hand of the governmental establishment.

This department is primarily concerned with state affairs, and it may be that a preview of the central issues of state politics and the central problems of state government in rapidly changing times may be helpful to that voter who takes his responsibility at the ballot box seriously.

FOR EXAMPLE

It can be forecast, for example, that there will be many candidates who will promise new services without acknowledging that they will require new revenues, which will be very difficult to acquire.

Herewith some extremely likely campaign themes, and some suggested inquiries for the skeptical elector if he is given a chance to interrogate the candidate at a campaign rally.

Wisconsin must prepare a long range plan for higher education to accommodate the swarms of new students who will want to go to college and university during the next decade.

Please be more specific. Will the existing standards of admission and performance be unchanged? Will the ratio of student and public support remain as it is today? How much more can the University at Madison expand, without exceeding practical physical limitations? What is the future role of some of the auxiliary institutions such as the county teachers' colleges?

The state must provide more higher educational opportunity near the homes of the students and their parents, for the benefit of those who cannot afford to leave home for study?

Q. What about the cost of such expansion? Studies have shown that the distribution of college level opportunity is now better than in most states. What about that? Where will the vocational schools and the county colleges fit? What criteria should be set for the establishment of additional colleges or university centers?

The state must reorganize its administrative services, to get the most for the tax dollar.

Q. How? This has been proposed for years, always without a blueprint. What is the ideal number of administrative departments?

MORE

Property taxes are too high. In some communities the rate is intolerable. The state must help to relieve the level of the property tax burden through more state aids and larger shares of state-collected taxes.

Q. Any appreciable percentage reduction of state taxes will require a vast new program of taxation by the state. What is your own program?

There are grand opportunities for economic growth in the Wisconsin tourist and recreation industry and the state government must promote them more aggressively.

Q. The state budget for tourist promotion and recreational advertising has been increased handsomely. How much more must the state appropriate for these purposes, and is there a difference between state advertising of recreational industries and manufacturing or commercial enterprises that also compete with others across state lines?

(To be continued tomorrow.)

Essence of Clarity Still Is Brevity

Rarely has anyone made a point more effectively by both precept and example, than did Rep. William B. Windell, of New Jersey, in a comment on bureaucratic inclinations toward verbosity.

"The Lord's Prayer," he said, "has 56 words, Lincoln's Gettysburg Address has 266, the Ten Commandments 297, the Declaration of Independence 300. But a recent government order on cabbage prices has 26,911."

It remains only to be noted that Rep. Windell's statement totaled 30 words. But it is a safe assumption that it will be read and understood by more people than will the government order on the price of cabbage.

There is still no better rule for the communication of ideas than the late Vice President Alben Barkley's prescription for an effective campaign speech:

1. Have something to say.
2. Say it.
3. Shut up.

Plains Newsman Quits Publishing To Go Fishing

Osceloa (Iowa) Sentinel

A western editor recently wrote the editor of a Kansas weekly newspaper asking why he was no longer receiving that paper in exchange.

The reply: "We suspended publication several months ago. Its demise was brought on by labor trouble, the More Abundant Life, the New Thought, the economy of plenty, Marxian liberalism, punitive idealism and the New Frontier handcuffs which I found even more irksome than the Modern Republican straightjacket."

"I managed to save enough through the years to keep me away from the poor farms so I shut down and went fishing."

You couldn't enumerate so many ills that put a publisher out of business in so few words if you tried. For brevity and lucidity the chrono goes to the Kansas publisher.

Kennedy 'Alliance for Progress' Heading for State of Emergency

Some Latin Americans Say It's Doing More Harm Than Good

BY WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy's ambitious and expensive Alliance for Progress is creeping steadily ahead — toward signs of trouble.

It is difficult to find anybody at any level in Latin America who will say he is optimistic about the program. Many are gloomy. Some see the alliance heading toward a state of emergency.

These opinions have been gathered from all sorts of sources, from the highest placed to the lowly, from Latin Americans and U.S. citizens on the scene, from people in palaces and people in favelas, from people on the right and people on the left.

Causing Harm

In some cases, the alliance seems to be generating discouragement, disillusion and even fear that it will do more harm than good. The expectations it suddenly aroused are too great to be matched by performance. There is little to show yet. The program appears to have been vastly oversold as a U.S. effort and vastly undersold from the standpoint of what will be required from Latin Americans themselves.

One of the best friends of the United States in Latin America told me:

"The concept of the Alliance for Progress was bold. The execution proved to be timid, bureaucratic, slow and even self-defeating. The ideas expressed by President Kennedy when he announced the alliance were revolutionary. But we see nothing but the same old stale techniques, the same old programs.

No Imagination

"The people charged with administering the program are either old hands who already are cynical about the chances of success, or entirely new men who know nothing about Latin America except what they have read in books. The program desperately needs imagination and courage. But the operation is far from catching up with the concept."

The alliance was announced by President Kennedy almost 15 months ago. At Punta Del Este, Uruguay, last Aug. 5, a charter was signed. The program envisioned $20 billion in public and private investment from the United States and Europe over a 10-year period. The Latin effort was to be the equivalent of $80 billion in that period. The charter pledged the participating nations to accomplish social and economic reforms as a prerequisite for loans to speed development.

Are the reforms coming? In capital after capital, a reporter is told that there is agreement in principle that reforms are needed. There is even legislation drawn up. He is told there is a growing realization that there must be land reform, tax reform, social reform, administrative reform and more equitable distribution of wealth.

Lip Service

For the most part, it seems to be lip service. Little tangible has been done.

On the U.S. side, one hears, over and over, this criticism: The Yankees are running around in all directions and getting nothing done. Nobody knows how much money is available for what. Funds are committed" but not "disbursed." The money is dangled before governments as bait for swifter movement on reforms, and while both sides wait the program languishes.

Wednesday, June 6, 1962 Appleton Post-Crescent A7

The idea of Latin self-help has failed to sink in to any appreciable degree.

"The very people we are striving to save are fighting us," said one American.

But many of those people, representing mostly the wealthy classes who control most of the governments, contend that the United States is wooing the left at their expense, that it is generating what can become an uncontrollable revolution. Some of them blandly suggest that the United States hurry up and advance money without insisting upon reforms.

Yet, billions of dollars are denied to the economies of Latin countries because their own wealthy classes lack confidence. The money is banked abroad, in Switzerland, Canada and other countries. It is not being invested by the Latins in their own nations. Time and again in Latin America one hears the opinion that if flight capital could be enticed back home, there would be no need for a U.S. program to save the continent.

There has been tremendous growth in many countries over the past 10 years, but there has been no real spreading of the wealth. The gulf remains between the vast unlettered poor and the few wealthy.

Fresh Start

More and more one hears that the alliance has gotten off to a shaky start, that it is time to take a new look and start afresh. The idea of pilot projects is taking shape—attacking the problems of a specific country while marking time in the others and holding the line. The idea is to create a showcase.

"The alliance must work somewhere," said one competent source. "It must have something to show. If it doesn't, it might as well get out of business."

It can hardly get out of business. A vast amount of publicity has been given to the notion that the United States has set out to accomplish a miracle.

"We have a tiger by the tail,"

Little Chute Assessment Nearly Ended

LITTLE CHUTE — Field work on the 1962 assessment roll, started April 1, is nearing completion, according to Nick VanderPas, village assessor.

No general increase in assessed valuation was made, but a substantial number of minor adjustments were made in a continued effort toward equalization, the assessor noted. Several sections, formerly listed as agricultural, were adjusted upward in line with present market values of property, particularly where future residential building is a factor.

In some instances, the present assessments were only a small fraction of true market valuation and the adjustments will bring the assessed values to more realistic figures, Vander Pas said. Assisting with field work this year was Thomas VanderPas, son of the assessor.

Reynolds Wants Expansion of Student Loans

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Democratic gubernatorial candidate John W. Reynolds has urged expanded student loans, scholarships and work programs for students who would otherwise be unable to attend college.

Reynolds, who is completing his second term as attorney general, said that each year thousands of capable students graduating from Wisconsin high schools are prohibited from going on to school because they lack funds. "Wisconsin," Reynolds said in an address at Portage Monday night, "must make certain it does not price a college education outside the reach of all but the well-to-do."

He noted that in the next 10 years enrollments are expected to increase 92 per cent at the state universities and colleges and that costs are expected to go up 115 per cent.

An American comments. "We dare not let go."

Two Drivers Escaped Uninjured in this spectacular crash on County Trunk three miles south of Ogdensburg Monday. According to Waupaca County police, the driver of the car on the left, Telford H. Gurholt, 44, Scandinavia, was driving on the wrong side of the road when his car collided with the vehicle on the right driven by Louis S. Strike, 42, 713 Royalton St., Waupaca. Gurholt was arrested for drunken driving and fined $200. The damage to Strike's car was estimated at $1,100 while damage to the Gurholt vehicle was set at $100.

College Student To Face Trial For Killing

there was a brawl at Morey's Bar involving a number of college students and a group of Amherst men.

Jerome Morey, 39, the operator of the bar, turned off the main lights when the fight started. It was indicated that Dombrowski, who died about two hours later at St. Michael Hospital of loss of blood due to a cut neck, got involved when he intervened in a "scuffle" between Amini and Charles Olson, 20, Amherst.

Did Not See Blow

Most of the prosecution witnesses testified they did not see Dombrowski strike Amini. Defense witnesses said Dombrowski struck Amini.

Saw Fatal Blow

Two of the witnesses for the prosecution, Morey and Richard Ratkowski, 19, 847 Union St., Stevens Point, said they saw Amini strike the fatal blow with a broken beer glass.

Conflicting testimony was given on what happened after Dombrowski was struck in the neck. Olson said he led Dombrowski out of the bar "on his own power." Ratkowski said Dombrowski collapsed immediately, and that he grabbed him by the feet and two others took his arms and they carried him out of the tavern.

Michael Leibenstein, Fairview Village, a trailer court, who was attending college with Amini, said he heard breaking glasses and "hard blows landing." He indicated Amini was being struck. "I saw Majid getting hit pretty hard," Leibenstein said.

Another Hurt

Michael Janis, 508 N. Michigan Ave., said he started to return to the fight area during the bar fight, and that he was thrown to the floor and was cut on the face and head. He also claimed he had bruised shoulders and ribs and did not know if he had been knocked unconscious.

In addition to the fatal injuries to Dombrowski and the injuries Janis received, Sheriff Meshak testified Amini had a black eye, cut finger and cheek bone.

Sheriff Meshak also testified he knew Dombrowski was a former Golden Gloves champion.

Morey, a prosecution witness, testified in cross-examination there was sufficient light in the barroom after the main lights were turned out to identify a person within eight or 10 feet. He said lights were still on behind the bar and in the toilet rooms and over a picture in the barroom behind the bar.

The courtroom was packed during the entire session, which opened Monday afternoon and concluded about 4:30 p. m. Tuesday. Many of the spectators were college students. Groups of between 20 and 30 people filled the doorways to the courtroom.

Judge Lehi opened the jury box to reporters and photographers who were covering the hearing. Judge Levi forbade the taking of photographs except from the doorways during the hearing.

Green Bay Lineman Killed as Pole Topples

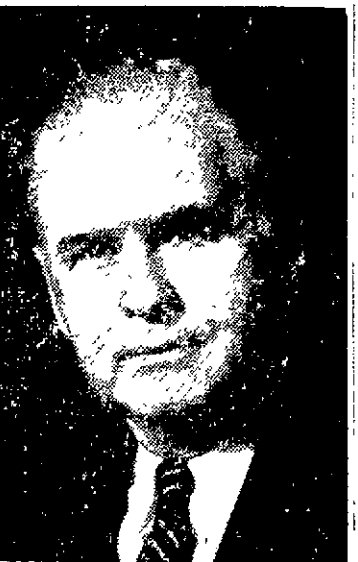

GREEN BAY (AP)—A lineman fell to his death late Tuesday when the utility pole to which he was strapped toppled.

Daryl Stenno, 36, of Green Bay was pronounced dead of a skull fracture at a Green Bay hospital.

He was working with a Wisconsin Public Service Co. crew.

Tipsy Drivers Involved in Car Accidents

Scandinavia Man Jailed; Couldn't Pay $200 Fine

Two men fined a total of $327 after pleading guilty to charges of drunken driving were both involved in accidents. Both men lost their driver's licenses for one year.

Telford H. Gurholt, 44, Scandinavia, appeared Tuesday afternoon before Municipal Justice George W. Whalen. Gurholt was committed to the Waupaca County jail when he failed to raise the $200 fine.

Gurholt was arrested by county police about 9 p.m. Monday when he was involved in a two-car traffic accident on County Trunk E three miles south of Ogdensburg.

Jack W. Sturges, 24, route 1, Neenah, today changed an earlier innocent plea to guilty of drunken driving. He paid $100 fine and $27 court costs in Municipal Justice of the Peace Arthur J. Ales' court.

Sturges was charged with drunken driving after his car crashed into a utility pole on Washington Street May 10. He refused to take a drunkometer test.

Soviets Place Restrictions On Goodman

SOCHI, Soviet Union (AP) — Benny Goodman, whose clarinet pleased Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow, ran into restrictions in the Soviet premier's favorite holiday spot.

As Goodman and his band played their second concert before an enthusiastic audience in this Black Sea resort town Monday night, Soviet officials:

1. Ordered RCA Victor officials to stop recording the concert.
2. Told Terrence F. Catherman, of Dearborn, Mich., cultural officer of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, to stop translating Goodman's remarks for the audience.
3. Cracked down on the band members' practice of distributing Benny Goodman buttons to Soviet admirers.

Goodman and his band have been receiving a warm response from audiences since they opened their six-week tour in Moscow last week. The band leader asked Catherman to interpret for him because the official Soviet interpreter was not translating any of his informal remarks. She limited herself to announcing the numbers being played.

A Pretty bouquet of colorful floral cottons for mother and daughter was picked for the fashions above. The pattern has a flattering scoop neckline, diamond-shaped pockets and back-buttons for slip on ease. The fabric is drip-dry wash and wear. An entire weekend wardrobe is involved in the outfit at right. In view are the full skirt and brief double-breasted jacket of bright blue cotton. Undercover are matching shorts and a sleeveless polka dot blouse. Many patterns offered today include several wear-together fashions.

That whirring noise around the Fox Cities this spring has had nothing to do with flying objects or the return of the bumble bee. It has emanated from literally thousands of sewing machines, stitching up warm weather wardrobes for everyone in the family, from dad and little brother to mom, sis and baby.

Home sewing has taken a tremendous leap in recent years. It has changed from its depression purpose of economy and its war stimulus of scarcity to one of calculated addiction to good style and superior fabric.

This year's measure of fashion is often by the yard, as some 40 million women snip and sew their own wardrobes to achieve individuality and a distinct fashion personality.

Perfect fit is more important than usual, with designers decreeing whittled midriffs under wide, wide belts, eased skirts (sometimes flaring to great width at the hem), and subtle shaping. Here home seamstresses have a big advantage, as less-than-perfect figures require costly alterations in ready-made apparel.

Cheer For Designs
Hurrahs are going up around the world for the return of these more body-conscious lines, colors softened slightly, but never namby pamby, and new fabrics that shape up to '62 with added surface interest.

Never-before textures in cotton fabrics emphasize color and design, giving dimension to bold over-size prints and adding depth to solid colors. The texture story extends to every fashion, and might go something like this:

Travel Suit: Cottons in a diagonal weave are especially suited to skirt-and-jacket ensemble, having the necessary body to retain its shape. Richly-textured tarpoon cloth, homespun, basket weaves, and cotton ottoman also shape up nicely to the suit story.

Wide Fabric Choice
Dress-Plus: Perhaps the most versatile ensemble imaginable is the dress-plus-jacket, and here the fabric choice is endless. The most distinctive costume might be fashioned with a cotton crepe dress in solid color and a cotton shark-skin print jacket, especially striking in a zebra-stripe print. (Lighter weight fabrics such as cotton crepe retain their shape better if the skirt is lined with cotton sheath lining.)

Afternoon Dress: Here textures are limited only by the style of your pattern and design of the fabric. Select a bold

Cotton Tarpoon Cloth Has the right body for this smart suit with its new cone shaped skirt and demi-fit cropped jacket. The design is one of many patterns available in local shops.

Marriage Promises Exchanged

NEW HOLSTEIN — Miss Beatrice C. Schneider and James R. Schafhauser repeated wedding vows at 9:30 a.m. Saturday at Holy Rosary Catholic Church. The Rev. Lambert Scanlan officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass.

Pair Weds In Quaker Nuptial Rite

NEENAH — Miss Mary Elizabeth Temple became the bride of Richard K. Wood at 2 p.m. Sunday at Our Savior Lutheran Church. The Rev. Donald Hausen officiated at the Quaker nuptial rite.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard U. Temple, 1036 Kalfahs St. Mr. and Mrs. William Wood, New York City, N. Y., are the parents of the bridegroom.

Mrs. James Lucas, Paola, Kan., attended the bride as matron of honor. Junior aide was Miss Nancy Elizabeth Temple, Myrtle Beach, S. C., a niece of the bride. William Wood served as best man.

A wedding reception was held at Butte des Morts Golf Club. After a northern honeymoon, the couple will reside in Madison.

The bride was graduated from Appleton High School and Southern College. She is employed at the University of Wisconsin Medical School. Her husband, a graduate of Oakwood High School, N. Y., is also an alumnus of Haverford College, Haverford, Pa. He is a project assistant and student at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Wood

Say Vows In Single Ring Rite

Miss Loretta Garvey, daughter of Mrs. James Garvey, 710 N. Superior St., and the late Mr. Garvey, and David Randall, Milwaukee, repeated nuptial promises at 10 a. m. Thursday at St. Mary Catholic Church. The Rev. Adam Grill performed the single ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Garvey, Menasha, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, attended the couple.

Club Terrace was the setting for a reception.

The bride, a graduate of Appleton High School, is employed at the Wisconsin Department of Taxation, Milwaukee. Her husband is employed as an engineer for the Marquette Cement Co., Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall will live at 820 W. State St., Milwaukee.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infect 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it: First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... small, easy-to-take tablets... special sizes for children and adults.

The Eighth Grade Graduates of St. John Grade School, Little Chute, and their parents were entertained at a party and dance Friday evening at the school auditorium. Games and refreshments were included in the party plans. Chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jansen. Above, dancing, are Karen Jansen, Gene Vosters, Judy Hermes and Gary Look. At left, choosing little cakes, are Susan Johnson and Ronald Hietpas.

Wedding Performed

OSHKOSH — Miss Rolene Cyrtmus and Thomas Loos exchanged marriage promises at 11 a.m. Saturday at St. Peter Catholic Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Carpenter, Leoman, are foster parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Loos.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Family Must Approve

She'll have to figure closely how much clothes, lunches, transportation and child care will cost. Perhaps most important, she'll have to have the support and approval of her family. With a grudging attitude on their part, the added work and tension would be overwhelming.

Sad Waste of Brains

These are the prospective female Leonardo Da Vincis, the teachers, scientists, social workers, engineers the country so badly needs. The most sadly wasted of all the sadly wasted brains. Many feel that there is actually something immoral about a woman with a special talent scrubbing floors and washing dishes when she could be enriching all mankind.

Archaic Concept

"The delusion that every woman must be a chambermaid, cook and they also serve as valuable examiners — in addition to any other work she may do — is archaic," insists Harper's editor, Marion Sanders. "It makes no more sense

A Lovelier You By Mary Sue Miller

Your Eyes Can Tell a Great Deal

Beware the person who avoids looking you in the eye, or so goes an old wives' caution. Do you believe it?

Eyes certainly have a language all their own. A woman might speak the words of a diplomat but, if their meaning is denied by her eyes, it would be better not to have spoken. If she says "I forgive you" and looks "daggers," her insincerity is tantamount to an insult.

Yet she may be sincere. It could be that her eyes play her false. The bored, preoccupied, suspicious or sleepy look often stems from unconscious habit, rather than an unpleasant turn of thought.

To learn just how your eyes can play tricks, try this experiment before a mirror: Open them wide, and notice the look of obstinacy that results. Now peer through half-closed lids, and see a picture

Auxiliary to Hold Picnic

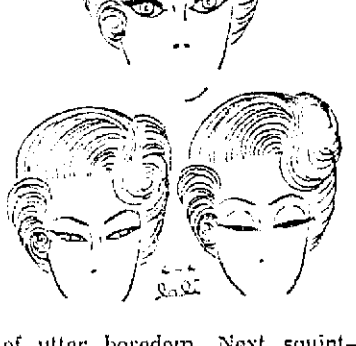

Mrs. Carl Krause, 1033 S. Blue-mound Drive, was hostess Monday evening to members of the Ladies Auxiliary to the International Association of Machinists. Plans for a membership drive and family potluck picnic were discussed. The next meeting will be Aug. 6 at the home of Mrs. Ray Steward, 4220 N. Gillette St.

Scouts Plan Awards Court

Girl Scout Troop 99 of Jackson School will hold a court of awards at a 4 p. m. Weiner roast Wednesday at Erb Park. A display of the troop's badge work is presently on exhibit in the art room of the Appleton Public Library. Mrs. Edward Ernest and Mrs. William Chopin are troop leaders.

of utter boredom. Next squint—it's the expression that says "show me!"

Finally open your eyes until the lids rest a bit above the pupils. What a transformation! Appearing interested and receptive. Your eyes now bespeak winning traits.

None of that means, however, that there ever should be anything stagey about the behavior of your eyes. The purpose is to eliminate habits that give an untrue impression. Once they are eliminated, the first requirement of eye-appeal is sincerity.

Women Apply Personal Talents in Outside Jobs

A year ago Mrs. Robert Goldberg glanced around her attractive Chicago home and, like many women in their early 40s, sensed a growing quiet. A slowly but surely advancing emptiness.

Her son, Richard, 19, was away at college. Her daughter, Barbara, had left on a trip. Within a few years, she knew, Rochelle, 10, would be gone too.

Second of Series

But Cecil Goldberg didn't brood. She had a talent and she was soon using it.

Though she had never taken any courses, she was soon turning out delightful, unique little centerpieces of plastic flowers, fruits and even vegetables.

Her initial investment was $100, her husband had the basement fixed up as a workshop, and today she sells directly from a gift shop and from her workshop, where she holds open house on Wednesdays.

Working at 81 Years

And even an 81-year-old woman in New York City didn't let her age daunt her.

She phoned an advisory service, saying spunkily, "If you tell me I'm too old, I won't come in to talk with you."

She was placed in a job as a volunteer and she was so good that the boss soon put her on the payroll.

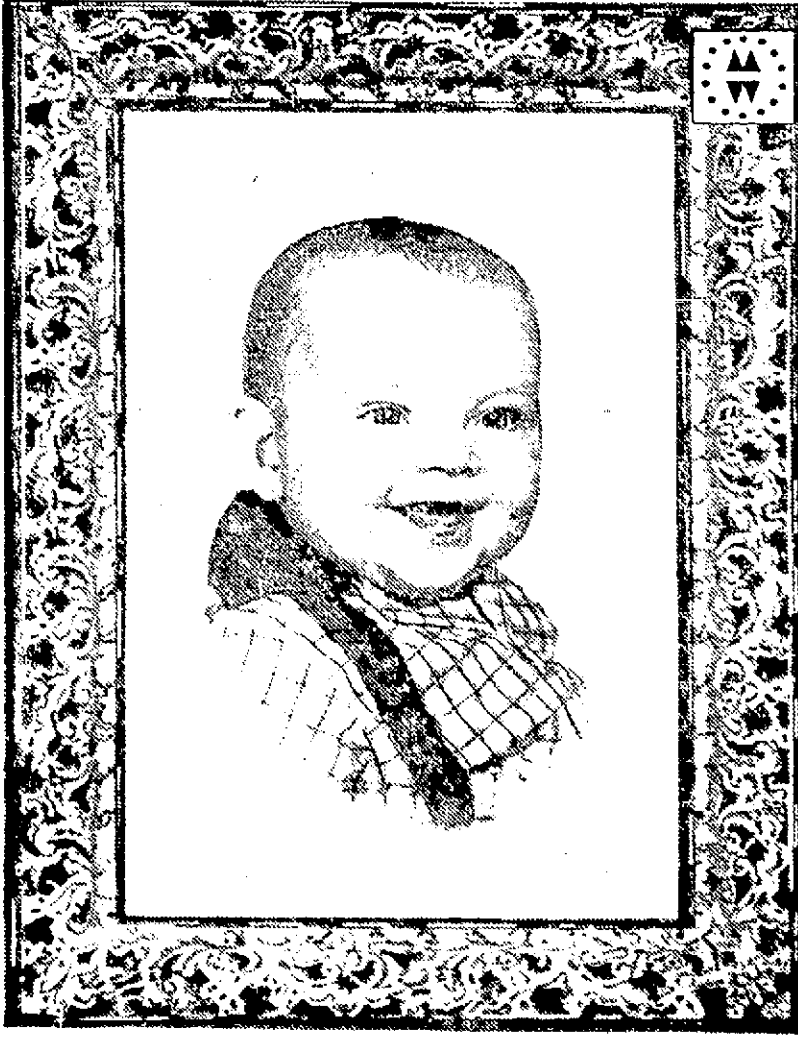

But the question the expectant worker must ask herself — and honestly — is simply "Is it worth it?"

She can expect job and salary discrimination, not only by sex but by age. "Second choice selections of workers" are described by the labor department as "The older, the very young, the handicapped, the minority and... the woman worker."

Discrimination Declining

However, up to 1960, 20 states had passed laws requiring equal pay for women and it is typical of the gradual changes that all government agencies were recently instructed to cut out discrimination against women.

If she's able to buck discrimina-

Woman Questions Success of Marriage to Service Man

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My fiancée is a college graduate, has excellent character and high moral standards. He did graduate work in engineering school but has now decided to make the army his career.

My father is opposed to any thing that smacks of the military. He hates killing, guns, uniforms and violence. He was a prisoner of war in Germany for two years which undoubtedly accounts for his bitter feelings.

Mother says my life will be hell if I marry a man who makes the army his career. She warned me that we would have frequent separations and I'd have to drag our children all over the face of the earth. She also claims some army posts are primitive, the schools are inferior and the women are driven to drink because of anxiety and boredom.

I love Jim but now I'm afraid to marry him. Are my folks right? Can you help me? My head is spinning.

Dear Spinning: The best authorities on this subject are army wives themselves. The women who are now living the life are best qualified to tell you what you want to know.

I invite the Army wives to write. The most informative and interesting letters will be printed.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is a red-hot office problem. Please don't print the name of the city because none of us can afford to lose our jobs.

The boss' secretary insists on opening all the mail that comes to this office. The words "personal" or "confidential" mean absolutely nothing. We've complained repeatedly but it does no good. The boss is definitely on her side.

We resent the invasion of privacy, but the problem extends beyond that. Frequently our letters are sent on for filing and we don't get to see them. Imagine the frustration when a friend or a customer phones and asks, "Why haven't I received a reply to the letter I wrote three weeks ago?"

If you can think of a solution you're a genius. Please give us a hand. — Invaded

Dear Invaded: Since the boss is "on her side" your best bet is to instruct one and all to write to you at home. It's inconvenient, but it may save you from an ulcer attack.

In the meantime, start looking for another job. Your working conditions sound impossible.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My brother died from alcoholism four months ago. His wife was a barfly. She had left him and their 12-year-old daughter, Lucy, several months before. The woman didn't even attend the funeral and we don't know where she is.

My husband and I took the 12-year-old into our home. We have two nice children, a boy 8 and a girl 9. They were thrilled at the prospect of having Lucy in our family.

We expected that Lucy might have a little trouble adjusting, but we didn't know she'd be a serious problem. She lies, fights with our children, and is unspeakably careless about herself.

She refuses to bathe and I almost have to pull her out of bed to go to school.

When one considers the home she came from, and what she has here, you'd think she'd consider herself fortunate. Instead she is resentful and seems to hate us. We need some help. — D and R.

Dear D and R: A child reared in an atmosphere of drunkenness and infidelity can hardly be expected to turn overnight into a bright, sunny little cherub. This girl has deep emotional wounds and they'll be a long time healing.

You were courageous to accept the challenge. Please be patient. Lucy needs love, understanding and probably therapy as well.

Ask your doctor about help for her. Good luck and God bless you.

Does almost everyone have a good time but you? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and she came from, and what she has here, you'd think she'd consider herself fortunate. Instead she is resentful and seems to hate us. We need some help. — D and R.

Plastic Lining Protects Shelves

An inexpensive and practical decorating trick is to line your laundry room cabinets and shelves with adhesive-backed plastic in a bright color or gay print.

This provides a waterproof surface which can be wiped off weekly with soap or detergent suds.

Cauliflower Salad

Cook cauliflowerets just until tender-crisp; drain and marinate in French dressing. Serve with greens as a salad.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. My horse has a large swelling on its withers. Sometimes it breaks open and pus comes out. It hurts the horse to be saddled. What is the cause and cure? Mrs. T. Jourdan, St. Louis.

A. These swellings on the withers, or shoulder, are usually what are technically called fistulas. It is an infection of the ligaments and sometimes the bones of the horse's spine. Most cases are caused by the same germ that causes abortion in cattle. Veterinarians can protect cattle against this by vaccination but there is no preventative for horses. Drugs do not seem to help this condition, and in nearly all cases surgery must be employed. The operation is extensive and often the horse must be allowed to rest for several months, sometimes as long as four to six months. However, the surgery is not particularly risky and should restore your horse to full health.

(Address your question to Dr. Miller in care of this paper. He will answer selected inquiries in this column, but cannot reply to them.)

Hard Work No Help

Do you feel virtuous about huffing and puffing? Congratulations. But remember that virtue is its own reward. If you expect to be rewarded at the bridge table, you have to learn how to sit still and let good things fall into your lap.

The energetic declarer goes right after the trumps in today's hand. The odds are very good that he'll lose a trump trick and go down one as a result.

One way to lose a trump trick is to lead out the ace and king. Another way is to start with the king of trumps and then lead another trump toward dummy, discovering too late that East is going to win a trick with the queen.

Any such line of play earns you one free crying towel, but the opponents score 100 points above the line.

The best play is to win the first trick with the king of diamonds and tackle the spades at once. East captures dummy's king of spades and returns the nine of diamonds to dummy's ace.

This should tell you how the diamonds are distributed, but it's pretty safe to ruff a diamond with the eight of hearts. At worst, if West is out of diamonds, your high ruff will operate as a sort of trump finesse. You're no worse off than if you had tackled the trumps at once.

Seven Members of the 1904 graduation class of the old Third Ward School held a reunion Saturday evening at Van Camp's Supper Club. The class has been meeting annually since the 50th anniversary of their graduation. There are 11 surviving members of a class of 21 graduates. They have pledged to hold an annual reunion as long as 'even two shall live'.

and guessed wrong.

As it happens, West follows with a diamond, and you have not committed yourself on the play of the trumps. Your object is to avoid committing yourself.

Return a spade, preparing to ruff in the dummy. No matter what the opponents return, you can ruff a diamond in your own hand and a spade in dummy. Cash the top clubs, reducing to one club and three trumps in each hand.

Now give up the club trick. You are sure to win the last three tricks no matter how the trumps break. The queen of hearts is sure to fall into your lap.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes. You hold: S Q 10 8 7 H 4 D Q J 10 7 C 10 9 5 2. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You would raise an opening bid of one spade, since then you could count 3 points for the singleton in addition to the 5 points in high cards. You have only 5 points in support of hearts, not quite enough for a response.

California Honeymoon Planned

CHILTON — St. Mary Catholic Church was the setting at 9 a.m. Saturday for the marriage of Miss Bonnie Jean Doern, daughter of Earl Doern, route 2, and the late Mrs. Doern, and James T. Preissner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Preissner, route 3.

The Rev. Raymond Conard officiated at the double ring ceremony and nuptial high mass.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Ronald Preissner, Fond du Lac. The bridegroom's cousin, Miss Janice Karls, Jericho, and Miss Janet Steffes, Milwaukee, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaids. Flower girl was Miss Arlene Groeschel, Malone.

Ronald Preissner, Fond du Lac, attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Robert Preissner, Jericho, a brother of the bridegroom, and Edward Mallman, Arlyn Doern Jr., Fond du Lac, a cousin of the bride, and Alvin Preissner seated guests. David Lisow, Malone, a cousin of the bridegroom, served as ring bearer.

A dinner and reception was held at Zeigebauer's Hall, Jericho.

The bride, a graduate of Chilton High School, is employed at the Aluminum Specialty Co. Her husband is also employed at the Aluminum Specialty Co.

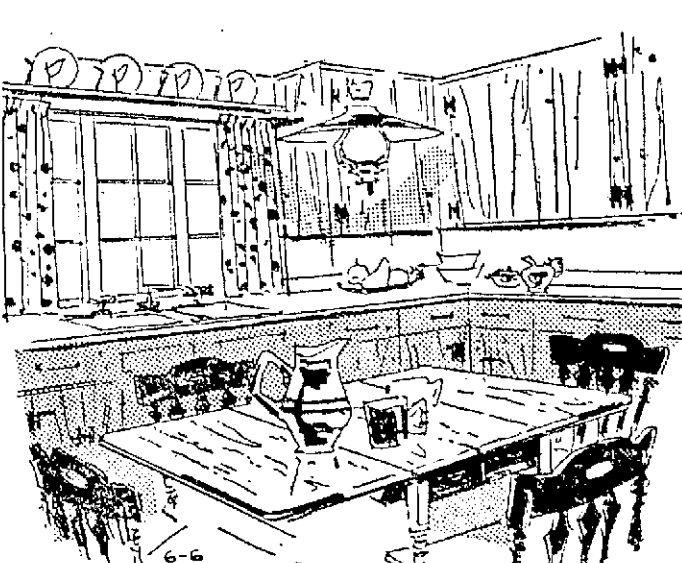

After a California honeymoon, the couple will reside at route 2.

Today's Etiquette

BY LOUISE DAVIS

NOSEY FRIENDS

We bought a house and moved three months ago. It has some interesting features which intrigue our friends. On several occasions people will ask how much we paid for the house. We are always taken aback and never know what to say. How can this be handled? Is it good manners to ask such questions?

Louise Davis answers:

No, never. Your answer could be your unspoken words, "It is none of your business." Your spoken words, "It cost us a million but it seems like two." Such a remark tells your rude friends that you have no intention of telling them what you paid for your house. If they are apt to be thick headed, I suggest that you make a point of veering quickly from the money subject to divert their minds. If they insist on returning to the original question, give them the same answer. Well mannered people never ask such a question, even by hint, for it is indeed none of their business.

GODPARENTS' OBLIGATION

My husband and I have been asked to be godparents at a baby's christening. I have recently been told that our obligation includes raising the child in our home if the parents die. Is that correct?

Louise Davis answers:

No. Your obligation is only spiritual. If you think that the baby's parents interpret otherwise, I suggest that you diplomatically make it clear long in advance what will be expected of you.

Rosendale Peonies in Bloom This Weekend

Peonies at Rosendale are expected to be in full bloom this weekend with the season lasting through June 23 for late varieties.

Known as Peony Town, the village located at the intersection of Highways 23 and 26 has four acres of gardens with more than 2,000 varieties of blooms.

Tours have been organized for visitors and a nearby park is available for picnics.

Wilkie Takes Oath as High Court Justice

MADISON (AP) — Horace W. Wilkie was sworn in today as a justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court. He fills the vacancy created by the death of Chief Justice Grover L. Bradford.

Chief Justice Timothy Brown administered the oath in the court's chambers.

Wilkie, a 45-year-old Madison attorney, resigned as a Democratic state senator to accept the high court post. Wilkie became Gov. Gaylord Nelson's first appointment to the Supreme Court.

Policeman's Name Tried On Naked City

BY TV SCOUT

9-10 (Channel 11) — Detective Adam Flint (Paul Burke) learns how vulnerable a cop is on to night's Naked City when the fact that his reputation can be mudied with every arrest becomes only too clear. The arrestee in this case is a pretty, spoiled young lady dominated by her social-climbing mother. During her trial for reckless driving and suspicion of possession of narcotics, she testified that Adam made a pass at her. The truth lies in the opposite direction.

7-8:30 (Channel 2) — During the filming of tonight's Checkmate, Anthony George took a walk, objecting to a badly written script. A few alterations were made the next day, and he returned. The result is a fairly preposterous tale of a blackmail racket which uses convention delegates as its target. With a bit more rewriting this might have developed into a good show, but as it stands George shouldn't have come back.

Despite Critics, TV Strives for Accuracy

Sometimes Real-Life Events Need Changing to Conform to Laws, Ethics

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Doctors watch television medical dramas, plausible but were actually altered for technical mistakes. Lawyers snort angrily when "dramatic license" turns a courtroom of a new fall series, "Sam Benedict," based on the real-life expa-por folk laugh at those "stop-plots of a colorful, unorthodox the presses" and "tear up the lawyer named Jake Ehrlich. Jahnke found the fictional character of But television, where so much Sam was doing two things forbidden of this sort of inaccuracy is likely to be found, has been trying where the action took place. Ehrhard to stay close to reality. In the cases of the current doctor series, it has done a good job. Goofs and silly situations still pop up, part of the old tug-of-war between the sticklers for realism and the demands for drama.

Trouble With Truth

Recently, however, Ernest Lee Jahnke, head of the NBC bureau of standards and practice which rides herd on program content, found himself in a curious situation: ordering revisions in a program because they seemed implausible but were actually authentic.

The program is the pilot film of a new fall series, "Sam Benedict," based on the real-life expa-por folk laugh at those "stop-plots of a colorful, unorthodox the presses" and "tear up the lawyer named Jake Ehrlich. Jahnke found the fictional character of But television, where so much Sam was doing two things forbidden of this sort of inaccuracy is likely to be found, has been trying where the action took place. Ehrhard to stay close to reality. In the cases of the current doctor series, it has done a good job. Goofs and silly situations still pop up, part of the old tug-of-war between the sticklers for realism and the demands for drama.

Two former title winners: BeBe Shopp, the 1948 winner, and Yolande Bebeze, the 1951 winner. (Color).

10:20-12 (Channel 4-5) — Tonight's guests are Shoney Wallace, Al Kelly, John Fostini, Jackma and adult themes. On the other hand, we can't allow free rein in some situations."

8-9 (Channel 11) — If you like old-fashioned mysteries of the "Ten Little Indians" school, you'll have great fun watching Hawaiian Eye. Five tourists, a tour director and her niece, detective Greg Mackenzie (Grant Williams) and a houseboy are trapped in the creaking old mansion owned by an eccentric old lady.

8-9:30 (Channel 2) — The repeat on the Dick Van Dyke Show takes a wildly improbable situation and decks it out in such funny, logical dialogue that it all seems quite reasonable. A self-proclaimed old Army buddy shows up in Rob's office and fignagles an invitation to dinner at Rob's house. The only trouble is that Rob can't remember ever having seen the man.

9-10 (Channel 2) — You might be better off taking "Journey to Oblivion" on Circle Theatre as a straight drama rather than an actual drama, because the ground covered — a socially prominent woman who is an alcoholic, but of a blackmail racket which uses convention delegates as its target. With a bit more rewriting this might have developed into a good show, but as it stands George shouldn't have come back.

Communists Practice Jim Crowism in U. S., Negro Woman Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some U.S. Communists practice Jim Crowism while preaching against it, says a Negro woman who was once a party member.

The woman, Julia Brown, identified as an FBI undercover agent, testified Monday before the House Committee on Un-American Activities that she couldn't attend by Communist party meetings in her neighborhood in Cleveland "because it was a Jim Crow club."

Mrs. Brown, testifying at the opening of hearings on Communist activity in the Cleveland area, said she was tricked into joining the Communist party in 1947. She thought then, she said, she was joining the Civil Rights Congress. She quit the party in 1948 but soon rejoined at the FBI's request and remained a member until she moved to Los Angeles in 1960. Mrs. Brown said.

Segregation has been practiced by the party "and always has been since I have been a Communist," she said.

Kennedy Will Request Tax Cuts to Put Zip In Lethargic Economy

Will Ask Congress to Consider Revision Before It Goes Home

BY STERLING F. GREEN
AP Economic Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's top economist, Walter Heller, says: "The economy is running in high gear. That is not enough. It should be in overdrive."

To help get it into overdrive, Kennedy will ask Congress, before it goes home this summer, to start work on a major 1963 overhaul of the tax law. There is good reason to believe this will bring a net tax reduction of anywhere from $2 billion to $5 billion.

The official line is that the business recovery, well into its second year, is satisfactory. It is, in the limited sense that gradual gains are being made to new high levels of income and production. No recession is in sight.

Admit Sluggishness

But privately Kennedy's advisers admit that the expansion lacks zip. Industry is working 15 per cent below capacity and profits, at a record, still are too small to balance next year's federal budget. The goal of lowering unemployment to 4 per cent by mid-1963 apparently will not be met.

In the past month the President's speeches began to repeat his campaign battle cry: "We've got to get the country moving forward."

It would still be barely possible to reach Kennedy's January forecast of $750 billion worth of production this year, but only if there is an early, vigorous upsurge of consumer buying and industry spending.

Most officials suspect that Chairman Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisers—the man who is trying to get economy into overdrive—was whistling in the dark when he said last week:

Odds Hard to Change

"There is a chance, a good chance, that we could do it. But the odds have dropped."

There are not too many ways to reverse the odds. The most obvious is a tax cut. Some officials are predicting already that the big tax revision program will turn out to include the first general tax reduction since 1954.

That one gave birth to the dazzling boom of 1955. The stock market's dizzy drop of last week, climaxing a jagged five-month decline, has lent urgency to the administration's search for economic adrenalin.

This is not because the big sell-off is considered a bad business omen. Of the dozen stock market slumps since World War II, four preceded recessions and the rest did not. The more reliable indicators all point up.

Still, the costly correction of inflated securities prices, topped off by a partial but brilliant recovery, may have left a psychological hangover.

The White House is seriously concerned over the possibility that fears may linger on, discouraging consumers from spending and causing business managers to defer their planned outlays on new plants and equipment.

By word and deed, Kennedy has sought to reassure business that his crackdown on the April steel price increase implied no policy of intervention in free markets; that his concern for profits is great, because the federal tax collector gets half of them; and that a healthy climate for enterprise and investment is among his foremost concerns.

In any case the administration is convinced that it must take whatever steps are needed to spur the recovery from its comfortable uphill trot into a gallop.

This much alone has been a painful decision, for almost anything the government does to stimulate the economy involves at least a risk of more deficit spending—which, in turn, would invite a further alienation of business and a fusillade of political sharp-shooting.

Average Recovery

To date the recovery is about average for postwar recessions. This gives the administration's planning little comfort, because each previous recovery has gone out leaving a bigger residue of unemployment.

The outlays of government alone, at all levels, will add $10 billion more to the national accounts than in 1961.

Unofficial new estimates of corporate outlays for new plant and equipment indicate a raise of about 10 per cent from last year. The dollar value of all goods and services produced, or gross national product, is now at a rate somewhere between $550 billion and $560 billion a year, a record high which represents a gain of more than $50 billion from the recession level of early 1961.

What's wrong then? Only these things:

If the industry were in overdrive, on its way to full employment, the production rate by now would be $10 billion higher. Unemployment would be down to 5 per cent or less of the labor force. Instead it has dropped only to 5.4 per cent, roughly half way between the recession rate of 6.9 and Kennedy's interim goal of 4 per cent next year.

Corporation profits, now believed to be somewhat above $52 billion in annual rate, would be closer to the $56 billion on which the administration built its budget-balancing forecast of corporation tax revenues.

The profit squeeze of which businessmen are complaining results from a combination of rising labor and other costs, idle capacity, tough competition at home and tougher overseas—and a White House policy against price raises.

As a result, this year's record profits will represent a smaller share of national output than did the earnings of the early 1950s. In the past decade profits have risen only 11 per cent while sales went up 70 per cent.

Kennedy Cures

Two current Kennedy tax measures are designed to improve industry's cash position by a total of about $2.5 billion a year. These are the forthcoming liberalization of depreciation allowances, to be issued by the Treasury in a month or so, and the controversial investment tax credit pending in Congress.

Other Kennedy measures are aimed chiefly at drying up some pools of unemployment through a public works speedup, retraining programs for idle young folk and the adult victims of automation, the area redevelopment program already enacted, and the extension of unemployment compensation.

They are basically defensive measures against hardship and recession. The administration now recognizes that they probably are not enough. It is canvassing the feasibility of measures which can accelerate real growth—to enlarge the whole pie, in Kennedy's words, so that everybody gets a bigger piece—workers, managers, investors and consumers.

The best solution now in sight, most administration experts believe, is tax reduction—lower rates in every income tax bracket plus a drop in the 52 per cent corporation rate to further stimulate new investment that will make the United States more competitive in the markets of the world.

German Air Workers Strike for 36 Hours

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Commercial air service resumed Tuesday night after planes were grounded for 36 hours in a nationwide warning strike by air safety personnel.

The strike was staged by 2,000 employees of area and airport flight control centers in a demand for higher pay.

Laws Change With Times, Parnell Says

Outagamie Bar Members Told of Changed Functions of Courts

Laws change with the times, particularly in the case of laws regarding automobiles, Circuit Judge Andrew W. Parnell told the Outagamie County Bar Association Tuesday.

Parnell

Parnell said only a few years ago the Board of Circuit Judges was a board in name only, meeting only for social purposes with no plan and no function. Today, this board is active in making law, Parnell said.

The Appleton judge cited as several examples the board's efforts in the shortened verdict and the universal jury instruction system. The board has also assured a working liaison with the Supreme Court, Judge Parnell said, which is an important element in making changes to law.

Because the automobile has changed from a novelty to a necessity, the law regarding automobiles has changed greatly in the last 50 years. Judge Parnell said laws changes are affected by the coming of more and better insurance coverage and by modern attitudes of the court.

The immunity of a child suing his parent has been altered somewhat, Parnell said, with the decision held by the courts that a child injured in an automobile accident now can sue the insurance company covering his parent.

Guests riding in cars now may be found negligent if they allow a hazard to develop, Parnell said.

Forty or 50 years ago, Parnell said, the guest in the automobile was an innocent bystander to a hazard. In this day and age, the courts hold a passenger has a duty to attempt to overcome a developing hazard by getting out of the car or protesting to the driver.

In former years, the courts contended that automobiles were a hazard to straying animals and that it was assumed that farmers could not keep their stock confined. Today's court may rule a farmer negligent in the case of an automobile accident involving his stock, Parnell said.

The Circuit Court judge explained that in some cases where a car goes into a spin after high speed, then blows a tire, and collides with a second car, old law claimed that blown tire was the superseding cause of the accident.

In modern courts, Parnell said, the blown tire is merely contributing to the original cause.

Parnell said a case now before the state Supreme Court is considering an Outagamie County appeal which could alter existing law. The case involves an insurance company attempting to declare a tavern operator who sold malt beverages to an underage youth involved in an accident responsible for damages.

Current law holds that tavern operators are not responsible for such matters unless the operator has been issued a written statement that the sale of liquor or malt beverages to the person is dangerous.

The Outagamie County Bar Association elected Stanley Gabert its new president, replacing William Hegner. Samuel Sigman was elected vice president and Gerard Patterson was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Browne Named Classified Chief

Takes New Post At Post-Crescent Replacing Parsons

George W. Browne today was named classified advertising manager of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Browne, who has served as national advertising manager for the Post-Crescent since August, 1960, will replace Melvin R. Parsons. A replacement in the National advertising job has not been announced.

Parsons was named retail advertising manager of the Post-Crescent Tuesday. Kenneth E. Davis, former retail advertising manager, was named president of Twin City News-Record Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Post-Crescent which publishes the Twin City News-Record.

Before he came to the Post-Crescent, Browne was advertising manager of the Lebanon (N.H.) Valley News for three years. Previously, he was a retail advertising salesman and classified advertising manager for the Bangor (Me.) Daily Commercial. Then he served the Bangor Daily News for six years in retail advertising and for three years as national advertising manager.

Browne graduated from the University of Maine in 1949, where he majored in business administration.

He is a member of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, Outagamie County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

Browne lives at 2218 N. Racine St. He is married and has six children.

Kimberly High Graduation Will Be in Gymnasium

KIMBERLY — Because the size of the graduating class forced moving commencement exercises from the high school auditorium to the gym, additional teachers have been assigned supervision for the 8 p.m. Thursday program, according to Darrell Larson, principal.

In charge of music will be Gordon Kolkosky and Allan Leicht and supervising lines for the procession will be Myron Huth assisted by Phillip Goecker, Miss Shirley Bourneville, Charles Rundquist and David Genzmer.

Miss Janice Findling is in charge of ushers and will be assisted by Miss Catherine Holmlund and Thomas Neal. Working on flowers, microphone and other gym floor arrangements are Ansel Anderson, Gilbert Frank, Miss Pauline Bachhuber, Warren Jarvis and Bernard Franckowiak.

Supervision at the front gym doors will be handled by Walter Rennebohm and Andre Ranney. Supervision at the rear gym doors and hallway will be handled by John Judd, Alton Olson and James Nirschl. Working with student speakers are Miss Alice Sucharda, Jerry Kroll and Mrs. Virginia Van Susteren.

Main Speaker at Kaukauna High School commencement ceremonies, John Wyngaard, Post-Crescent Madison Bureau chief, advises graduates on their duties as citizens in adult life.

In National Competition

Neenah Girl Survives 6 Rounds of Spelling Bee

NEENAH — Kristi Wigstadt, 49 girls and 21 boys will step up to a microphone in a huge downtown ballroom to vie for the title of national spelling champ and prizes totaling $5,700 in cash. The winner gets $1,000 and a sightseeing trip to New York City.

The contest is open to youngsters not over 15 and not yet beyond the eighth grade. The finalists were picked from more than 5 million U. S. school children who competed. Only four are veterans of last year's finals.

Up to now, girls have been beating out boys two to one in winning the spelling bee titles. The man who will be throwing the tough words at the youngsters — called "the pronouncer" — is Dr. Richard Baker, professor of philosophy at the University of Dayton. A panel of three judges will decide any sticky problems that may arise in the spelling arena.

An attack of hiccups which beset a 12-year-old Texas contestant slowed down the contest during the third round. A 15-minute warm-up round with easy words started off the spell-down. Then Dr. Baker warned that "this is for keeps."

During the first six rounds the spelling bee ran through 332 words and only 18 of the 70 contestants were eliminated.

Sgt. York May Be Returned to His Home

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A hospital spokesman says Sgt. Alvin C. York, 74, should be able to return to his farm home at Pall Mall, Tenn., by the weekend.

Two Appleton youngsters have gone into competition with the Post-Crescent. Carrier boy Richard Mullen received a call the other night that he'd forgotten to leave a paper at the Ronald Geurts home, 1408 Leona St.

Richard was sure he hadn't missed the home, but he checked and discovered that the two young Geurts children—Joan, 5, and Carol, 4—had hidden the paper. When the paper came, Daddy was so busy reading it that he didn't have time to play with them—and they didn't want that.

Priebe to Seek Third Term in State Assembly

Assemblyman Kenneth Priebe, 1206 S. Ritger St., announced today he will seek his third term as First District assemblyman for Outagamie County.

He will run on the Republican ticket, and is the first candidate to announce for the post.

Priebe, 49, was elected to panel of experts, said. He said it is a matter of simple economics.

"Are you going to grow with it?" he asked the merchants. "Are you going to help it grow?"

"Look of Success"

Robert O'Brien, president of Creative Group, Inc., an Appleton advertising agency, said there is no successful retailing operation that doesn't have "the look of success." He pointed to the increasing threats in retailing, the threat of big, expanding retailers and the threat of discounters.

"Do you fight it, and spend money in the process, or do you relax?" he asked. "We now have the big, solid chunks of a brand individual and his relation to in-dividual and family welfare will his business and his family.

Chicago Bank to Buy City's $1.6 Million Bond Issue

Money Will Pay for Storm Sewer Work, Treatment Plant Addition

The First National Bank of Chicago was the successful bidder Tuesday for Appleton's $1,644,000 bond issue to pay for the sewage treatment plant addition and 1962 storm sewer work.

Net interest on the bonds will be $313,741, at a net effective interest rate of 2.94 per cent.

Contracts Awarded

The board of public works awarded the bonds to the Chicago firm. Members remarked that the interest rate was the lowest that the city has received in recent years.

After the bond sale was made, rate of 3.03 per cent.

A downtown Appleton that looks something like Paris — that's what could possibly and profitably happen, Appleton merchants were told Tuesday night.

Robert Sauter, an Appleton architect, showed about 50 merchants his drawing of a College Avenue, which he described as somewhat Parisian in appearance and atmosphere. A panel of experts at a Modernization Rally at Conway Motor Hotel told the merchants that they can have such an avenue, to the benefit of their individual pocketbooks.

The rally was probably the first mass effort to modernize and beautify downtown stores. The Parade of Progress Committee, an arm of the Project 70 effort, staged the rally. Eugene Garvey was in charge of arrangements.

Islands of Beauty

Colorful architect's sketches hanging on the walls of the Crystal Room in the hotel made the merchants aware of the grandiose commercial projects that recently have been undertaken in Appleton or will be undertaken soon.

Displays prepared for the modernization rally and shown to 50 Appleton merchants Tuesday night will remain in the Crystal Room of the Conway Motor Hotel for a week so that service clubs, businessmen and all interested can view them.

The displays include architect's drawings and models of proposed commercial buildings in the downtown areas, composite photos of the present stores on the avenue, and Robert Sauter's conceptions of a future College Avenue.

Juniors to Assist At MHS Graduation

MENASHA — Highest-ranking girl scholar in the junior class, Debbie Biggers, will present the class flower to each graduating senior of Menasha High School at tonight's commencement exercises. The honor of presentation is traditionally reserved to the girl who ranks first scholastically.

Also on scholastic basis, many junior girls will serve as ushers. They are Judy Lewandowski, Sue Patterson, Sandra Henke, Karen McKinnon, Hope Hollenbeck, Jeanne Anderson, Sue Brezinski, Diana Lindquist, Sandra Bruhl, Barbara Pavelatke, Betty Bayer, Martha Miller, Cassie Bachhuber, local banks for a loan to buy the Jackie Jacobson, Margo Dreyer, depot site, because the railroad charges 6 per cent interest on land contracts.

Appleton State Bank offered the money for 2.15 per cent, and the Bonnie Powell, Diane Schomer, board accepted it. First National Bank of Appleton submitted the Sue Linden, Jeanne Richter and only other offer, 2.25 per cent. Julie Wanserski.

This Panel of Experts Urged merchants of Appleton to modernize their stores, and told them how to do it at a Modernization Rally Tuesday night at the Conway Motor Hotel. The point of the rally was that modernization is profitable for the individual merchant, as well as good for the community. Drawings of a future College Avenue contained elements reminiscent of Paris.

Ruling Sought On Eligibility To Join Union

Local 950 Seeks To Represent
Hospital Workers

What constitutes a supervisor and who belongs in a union?

These questions were posed Tuesday at a hearing conducted in Appleton by the Wisconsin Employment Relations Board. Appearing at the hearing were representatives from Local 950 of the Wisconsin Council of County and Municipal Employees and representatives of the Outagamie County Hospital and Golden Age Home No. 2.

The union has organized at the hospital and has petitioned the WERB for an election to certify it as the legal bargaining agent. The purpose of the hearing was to determine which employees were supervisors and should not be included in union membership.

Union Petition

The union petition asked to represent all employees with the exception of the superintendent, the matron, the medical director, the dentist and the psychiatrist.

Appearing for the union was Robert W. Swanson, local representative for the employees union and Clarence Dammerich, Local 950 president. Appearing for the county hospital were Norbert Loerke, superintendent; Corporation counsel A. W. Ponath, and county supervisors John Schreiter and Sylvester Esler.

The county contended in addition to the members mentioned by the union, the following positions should also be considered as supervisory: accountant clerk (bookkeeper), stenographer III and the graduate chief nurse.

III and graduate nurse II, licensed practical nurse senior grade, trained unlicensed practical nurses junior grade and X-ray aide.

Other Positions

Other positions which the county contended are supervisory included the supervisor of institutional aids, the activity supervisor, the social worker, cooks I and II, supervisor of plant services, operating engineer, chief janitor, laundry supervisor, farm manager and herdsman.

The union would agree that only the graduate chief nurse could be considered as supervisory and asked that the rest be included in the bargaining unit.

The hearing examiner, WERB chairman Morris Slavney, took testimony from home superintendent Loerke on the duties and responsibilities of the employees in question. The three-member board will study the testimony and transcript of the proceeding.

Determine Eligibility

It will then determine who is eligible to vote in the election. After this decision, the board will set the date for the WERB-supervised vote.

If the union is approved the WERB will certify it as the legal bargaining agent for employees at the hospital. Both parties have opportunities to submit briefs.

No date has been set for announcing the decision.

3 Proposed Planks Listed By Democrats

MADISON (AP) — The Democratic party of Wisconsin made public today proposed platform planks on three major subjects — reapportionment, conservation and state organization and administration.

The proposals will be submitted to the party's convention June 22 in Sheboygan.

The statement on reapportionment calls for an equal vote for every citizen and noted Gov. Gaylord Nelson and Democrats in the Legislature have supported reapportionment as called for under the state constitution.

It commends Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds for his efforts to achieve reapportionment by appealing to the state and federal courts.

The conservation plank points to Democratic-sponsored bills enacted into law and adds "we are pledged to continue the national leadership which we have provided in the field of conservation."

Library Seeks Doubling of County Payment

The Appleton Public Library board of trustees has decided to ask the Outagamie County board for an appropriation of $13,711 towards the support of the library in 1963, more than doubling the present county appropriation. The library's finance committee report recommending the request was based on a cost analysis study prepared for the library by the accounting firm of Schumaker, Haass, Derscheid and Co.

The study computed the total cost of extending service to the schools of Outagamie County and to the non-Appleton residents of the county on the basis of the use that was made of the library in 1961.

The public library's 1962 budget is $146,565. Of this amount, Outagamie County contributes $6,300.

store front was treated individually, to give it a "corporate image." His drawings used the basic, existing structures of present stores, but beautified each one significantly by minor changes in exterior design and adding frills and color.

Where old buildings "that should have been condemned long ago" now stand, he drew recessed patios and outdoor cafes, reminiscent of Paris. In some cases, he drew large stores in which a number of present retail outlets combined as individual departments.

Reason to Relax

The object of the improved avenue, Sauter said, is to get customers out of their cars and into the stores — "to give them a reason to stay, reason to relax."

He said the drawings represented "no science fiction solutions. Sauter worked with merchants and landowners for several months to develop the drawings.

He called for the elimination of overhead signs, which clutter up the vista and "mean nothing."

"Let's enhance the real blight in the rear of the stores," he said. He said some stores could have two facades and some three. The total effect was a pretty, light, gay avenue.

Gay Avenue

Others on the panel told the merchants how they could make these or similar changes and make money by doing it. They included Gus Zuehlke, president of Appleton State Bank; and Frans Larson, a partner in E. A. Dettman and Co., Appleton certified public accountants.

Zuehlke said all Appleton banks are willing to help merchants finance their modernization projects. But an across-the-board concession on modernization loans wouldn't work, he said, because a real desire to modernize has to come first.

Gain in Sales

Larson explained that tenants, not just owners can benefit by paying for modernization. Tenants, he pointed out, can write-down their lease, while owners must write it off over the life of the improved building, he said. He said tax cuts would pay for 30 to 52 per cent of modernization projects. The rest merchants would make up in increased profits, he said. "In general gains of 20 per cent in sales are not unusual," Conway added.

"The person who does not modernize is paying for his neighbor's modernization by his own loss of customers," Larson said.

Mayor Clarence Mitchell described the two parking ramps planned for downtown Appleton and said a complete review of parking meter rates, time limits and tire chalking will come after the ramps are up. He told of a coming sewer, water main and resurfacing project on College Avenue in 1963 or 1964. He said the city would try to minimize the effects on businesses.

McLean suggested that the period when the street will be torn up would be a good time to modernize.

Announce 1962 Expansion Plans

Red Owl Stores Inc. plans to build 10 to 12 new supermarkets during 1962 and to establish laundry and dry cleaning units adjacent to some of its stores. It was announced at the annual shareholders' meeting in Minneapolis, Minn., today.

Ford Bell, chairman of the board, said the 1962 expansion plans include the securing of certain processing facilities to supply the Red Owl retail and wholesale outlets.

Kimberly Priest To Celebrate First Mass

Rev. Benet Eltink
Ordained May 31
In Lanham, Md.

The Rev. Benet Peter Eltink, a newly-ordained priest in the Society of the Divine Savior, will celebrate his first solemn high mass at 11 a. m. Sunday in Holy Name of Jesus Church, Kimberly.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony R. Eltink, 116 W. Kimberly Ave., Kimberly.

Dinner will be served in the school hall following the mass, and a reception for friends and relatives will be held there from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m.

Father Eltink was ordained May 31 in the new chapel at Divine Savior Seminary, Lanham, Md., which is the major seminary of the Society in the United States. The ordaining prelate was the Most Rev. Philip Hannan, auxiliary bishop of Washington, D. C.

He attended grade school at Holy Name School in Kimberly, and then the Salvatorian Seminary.

Rev. Benet Eltink

for six years. After completing minor seminary, Father Eltink entered the Salvatorian Novitiate at Colfax, Iowa, where he made first profession of religious vows in 1956.

He then took philosophy studies at the Catholic University in Washington, D. C., where he was awarded a bachelor's degree. He completed his theology studies at Divine Savior Seminary.

Ministers for the first mass include the Rev. Nicholas Freund, S.D.S., as deacon; the Rev. Cyril Van Heeswyk as subdeacon and the Rev. Joseph Kools as archpriest. The Rev. Peyton Connors, S.D.S., will preach the sermon.

After his first mass Father Eltink will return to Divine Savior Seminary to continue his studies until he is appointed to one of the Salvatorian houses in September. The Society conducts four high schools, seven seminaries and home and foreign missions.

New Goodwill Budget Store Gets Enthusiastic Support

The Goodwill Budget Store (the initiation of weekly pick-ups opened in the Fox Cities April 13 in Appleton, Neenah-Menasha and Oshkosh, Adams said. However, he noted that Goodwill Industries has received enthusiastic support from residents of the area, according to Dean C. Adams, division manager.

The store employs seven handicapped persons from Appleton, Shawano, Green Bay and Neenah. It is located on U.S. 47 and Airport Road.

Contributions of discarded materials have jumped sharply since the opening of the store and had charge of typing. Copy was handled by Dawn Bloch and Donna Lee Dewey. Donald Sylvester was school photographer. Adviser was Miss Pauline Bachhuber.

Discarded articles such as clothing, household appliances, china, kitchenware, linen, bedding, toys and furniture (except those pieces mentioned above) can be reconditioned and sold by the handicapped, he said.

Residents of Appleton and Neenah-Menasha can arrange for a home pickup of their discards by calling the Goodwill truck by calling Regent 4-2667. Oshkosh citizens can call Beverly 5-4865.

Photographer Talks On Time-Saving Ideas

Milton Rueckl, Appleton, spoke before the Nebraska Professional Photographers' Association convention in Omaha recently on time-saving ideas for the small photographers competing with chain studios for high school graduation portraits.

Rueckl also was a print judge for the association's photograph competition.

Rueckl was a judge of photograph prints at the convention of the Iowa Professional Photographers Association in May.

Special Group Appointed on Redistricting

S. N. Pickard of Neenah Included in Blanchard's List

MADISON (AP) — Members of the Legislative Council's special committee on reapportionment were announced today by Assembly Speaker David Blanchard, R-Edgerton, council chairman.

The first meeting of the 19-member group has been set for June 21 in Stevens Point. The committee was authorized Monday to develop a reapportionment plan for submission to the council "as expeditiously as possible."

The six state senators on the committee are Republicans Walter Hollander of Rosendale, Clifford Krueger of Merrill and Robert P. Knowles of New Richmond. Democratic senators are Leland McParland of Cudahy, Davis Donnelly of Eau Claire and Lynn Stalbaum of Racine.

Assembly members are Republicans Willis Hutnik of Tony, Glen Pommerening of Wauwatosa and Blanchard. Democrats are Frank Christopherson of Superior, Mark Ryan of Milwaukee and Cletus VanderPerren of Green Bay. The seven public members named by Blanchard are Herbert Terwilliger, a Wausau attorney; C. Stanley Perry, Milwaukee attorney; James E. Doyle, a Madison attorney; Wayne J. Hood, of La Crosse; S. N. Pickard of Neenah; Joseph O. Mithus of Racine, and Joseph F. Handlos of Land O'Lakes.

Blanchard said the Stevens Point meeting would be open to the public and any state officials who wish to appear to give their views.

Students selected green and white as class colors and the carnation as flower. Songs to be sung by students include "Jesus

Stocks Start Strong, Then Slide Back

Profit-Taking Skims Cream Off Vigorous Start

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market held substantial gains early this afternoon. Profit-taking skimmed the cream from a brisk rally in the morning as trading quieted after a vigorous start.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.90 to 221.20 with industrials up 2.80, rails up .50 and utilities up 1.10.

Gains of fractions to well over a point among key stocks were spread through various sections of the list.

The rise was strong from the opening, with the ticker tape running as much as four minutes behind transactions.

Base For Rally

Wall Streeters ascribed the advance to an outgrowth of Tuesday's gyrations which had the signs of an attempt to build a solid base from which to rally. Apparently, such a base was built, if only for a day.

In early afternoon the market had recouped about a third of Monday's sharp losses. Blue chips spurred 1 or 2 points along a broad front in the morning and early gains of several points were scored by some of the "growth" stocks. These advances were cut back in most cases and some gainers became losers.

As trading progressed, however, prices once again were improving.

IBM was up more than 4. AT&T wiped out a gain of more than a point, traded at a fractional net loss, then recovered.

Motors Gain

All Big Three motors were up, Chrysler by more than a point. Major steels were up, Jones & Laughlin adding more than a point.

Gains of about 2 were shown by Polaroid, General Electric, Merck and Ford. Xerox and Du Pont were up about 3.

Advances of a point or more were shown by Radiq Corp., Burroughs, Litton Industries, Lorillard and Douglas Aircraft.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 7.03 to 601.99. Prices were generally higher on the American Stock Exchange as trading slowed from recent sessions.

Crowd Enjoys Mistake

ROCK HILL, S.C. (AP)—Dero Cook, a Democratic candidate for governor, made a mistake that politicians dread.

"I am mighty happy to be in Spartanburg," he said as he opened a speech. But the crowd laughed—he was in Rock Hill.

Lead Thou On," and "Jesus, Shepherd of the Sheep."

Students in the upper three grades will have a picnic at Calumet County Park Friday. Those in the lower grades will have a picnic on the school grounds.

Japanese Industrialists Supplying Red Enemy

BY VICTOR RIESEL

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Confidential reports disclose that our friends Tokyo's industrialists, are trading with the enemy — a shooting enemy at that, unless all the noise in Laos and Viet Nam comes from a dragon-sized fireworks display. "Trading" is a charitable word. Supplying the enemy would be more accurate. And at a moment when Communist China needs hardware most.

Riesel

There is, for example, a desperate need for trucks in Mao's China. While millions starve and tear with helpless hands at British barbed wire around the Canton-Hong Kong border, Peiping's survivors and engineers have been directing forced labor in the construction of costly highway networks leading from China into India and Russia. Many of these roads are now complete. Now supplies of big trucks for these roads have been coming in from Czechoslovakia. But not enough.

So Peiping turned to Japanese manufacturers. Successfully. On May 2nd, they closed the deal. On that day the Japanese International Trade and Industry Ministry approved the export of 200 trucks to the Communist Mainland. They must have been big trucks, too. The total package was for $14 million worth of vehicles. This makes it $7000 a piece. Such a sum would call for big equipment in the U. S. at our prices. But at the low Japanese rates, the carriers supplied must be behemoth. Certainly these could be used in the current Communist military buildup.

Heavy Machinery. But the trucks are only part of Tokyo's trade plans for Communized China. During the second week in May the Japanese Supreme Export Council decided to launch big commercial drives in Communist countries. This is the privilege of the gentlemen of Japan. It is also the privilege of the

Consumer Aid Plan Proposed By Democrats

Platform Group Asks For Interstate Road Through Fox Valley

MADISON, AP — A plank calling for "protection of the consumer," including establishment of a consumer's council in the attorney general's office is part of the proposed platform that will be submitted to the Democratic State Convention June 22.

State Sen. Robert Dean of Wausau chairman of the platform group released the text of the plank, along with others on highways and ethics in elections.

What Plank Says

The consumer plank asserts that the Democratic Party "strongly urges" steps to establish the consumer's council, a revolving credit and installment law to state clearly the limits on charges, and require full disclosure of interest rate, compulsory inspection of meat and poultry where not covered by federal regulation, legislation to provide for converting group health and accident plans to individual policies on retirement, more detailed packaging regulation and further restrictions on transient peddling.

The plank also demands that physicians specify the generic name of drugs on prescriptions "so that differing prices of brands are made available for consumer choice."

The highway plank pledges maintenance of the segregated, highway fund, "equitable billboard control" and among other things a major interstate route through the Fox River Valley.

The ethics plank asks amendment of the Wisconsin Corrupt Practices Law so that all expenses in behalf of a candidate "shall be with his knowledge and consent and shall count toward the realistic limit of maximum expenditures" and asks that a system of incentives be established to encourage political contributions.

Babies Born in March Set All-Time Record

WASHINGTON, AP — More babies were born in March this year than in any other March of record, the Public Health Service reported Monday.

There were an estimated 359,000 registered live births during March, or 0.8 per cent more than the previous March record of 356,000 in 1961.

free American press to report this trading with governments which have ordered military invasion of allied nations — and which have forced the U. S. to dispatch its young men to jungle fronts. I talk not of the supplying of food to a starving Chinese people. Nor of the implements to till that good — though reddened — earth.

My authority is the Japanese Chinese Trade Promotion Assn. It reports that the Peiping government is ready to place orders too, feels no pain over such "neutrality."

Deferred Payment

The Japanese want these orders. For them it is good business. They also are preparing to send rolled steel, big automatic lathes, industrial production equipment and the vital for vast plants of many kinds.

Nor are the Japanese taking any free-trade policy which permits chances on Communist credit. The worked up a "deferred payment plan" to make certain the Peiping government makes good the $50 to $75 million for which the Tokyo businessmen will bill it. Under this plan the maximum period for deferred payment will be five years. The scheme calls for letters of credit from Communist China's People's bank, but guaranteed by a bank of a third country.

This deferred plan has been "hailed" by Tokyo's business houses as a "step towards the establishment of long-term trade relations between" Communist China and Japan.

But this report would not be complete without word from the labor side in Japan. Labor there, too, feels no pain over such "neutrality."

Polite Neutrality

There are many outright Communist — and allied left wing Socialist — controlled labor outfits. But I write now of a non-Communist union called the Denki Electric Machine Workers union, and this is the organization whose members gain so much from our free-trade policy which permits them to pour transistor, TV radio, they were planning a convention. They were asked to affiliate with anti-Communist international labor organizations.

Word was dispatched to U. S. unions as well as anti-Communist labor circles in Geneva that this would not be done with the flip of a phrase in a resolution. The convention leaders advised that they wanted to hear from spokesmen of the Soviet global labor outfit the World Federation of Trade Unions — specializing in anti-U. S. demonstrations.

So Jim Carey, leader of the U. S. International Union of Electrical Workers — carrying a message from President Kennedy — spoke on behalf of the anti-Communists. And a Sovietetee by name of Jean Maillier spoke for the Communists. At this writing the count is not in. But that's not the point.

Polite neutrality towards the Communists is the point. Isn't it time our friends realized the other side is shooting at us?

Reds Frightened By U. S. Economy

BY SYLVIA PORTER

Open Letter to Izvestia, newspaper of the Soviet Government in Moscow:

The stock market crackup on "Black Monday" last week gave you an extraordinary juicy propaganda opportunity to scream to the Russian people that the United States is heading for an economic decline of "catastrophic proportions." As any hep American might have expected, you seized it and under a black headline "Stunning Blow to Market," you printed a Tass dispatch reporting the stock slump and saying that "President Kennedy and his advisers would like to arrest the crash, but do not know how to do this."

You even wrote that "certain circles in the United States are trying to use the market situation as a pretext for a new onslaught on the rights of the working class." (Whatever that means.)

While this reporter has no illusions that any Soviet citizen in Russia will see this column's reasoned, factual reply, perhaps the U.S. citizens who do read it will get some comfort from it.

To begin with, Sir, your propaganda easily could be made to boomerang on you, for your report brings irresistibly to mind Shakespeare's famous line in Hamlet: "The lady doth protest too much, methinks."

Upsurge Frightening For you know that the "economic" of the capitalist world is any hep American might have expected, as your Moscow radio said, "dangerously sick and past the hope of recovery" nor facing the depression. In fact, what's frightening you out of your uneasy slump and saying that "President Kennedy and his advisers would like to arrest the crash, but do not know how to do this."

Europe, the prospect of an economically unified, prosperous Atlantic Community. That's why you're attacking the Common Market with such vehemence, sending ominous warnings to Britain to stay out. You're scared.

Now with that beginning, Izvestia, let's push some statistics about the U.S. economy right into your collective face.

The economy of this nation has been advancing for 16 months to all-time peaks. Our only complaint—and it's one explanation for the stock market's slump from what were obviously overpriced levels—is that we want it to advance faster so we can cut into what we admit to be a too high rate of unemployment and our corporations can make more money. Instead of plotting "a new onslaught on the rights of the working class," we're trying to figure out ways to create more jobs and job security for "the working class."

Personal incomes here are now running at an annual rate of almost $439 billion, $29 billion or 7 per cent higher than a year ago. The vast majority of families in our land today are financially better off than ever before and they'll continue to be even better.

Higher Profits Corporation profits here will be running at a rate of $53-$54 billion this year against $46 billion in 1961. Our aim, I repeat, is to help swell the profits and the administration and Congress are acting to achieve this right now. The U.S. Treasury is about to issue new depreciation schedules for corporations which will save businesses investing in modernization and expansion $1 to $1.5 billion a year. Congress is debating a tax incentive for businesses which will save those spending on plants and equipment another $1 to $1.5 billion a year. And more is to be done.

Retail sales are smashing all records although the stock decline may temporarily bite into luxury purchases. Auto sales are now running at 7 million a year. We're building new houses at a rate of 1.5 million annually, up 34 per cent from the February low. Our total output of goods and services is far over a half-trillion dollars, heading for $565 billion or more by the year end.

There's plenty of steam still in this advance and our states aim is to make it stronger, give it longer life. That's why work is being speeded on a bill to cut taxes across-the-board for corporations and individuals to prevent even a moderate business dip in 1963.

While you're writing about how "dangerously sick" we are, Izvestia, you're worrying about the night the Western world is developing. You should worry. With new unity and power, we will be able to isolate and "bury you" and you know it.

Canadian Air Force Steps Up Search for Missing Milwaukeeans

EDMONTON, Alta. (AP)—The Canadian Air Force stepped up Monday a search for two Milwaukee men missing since Saturday in a single-engine amphibious plane in northern British Columbia.

No trace of the missing plane was reported.

The missing men are Dr. G.S. Flaherty, 60, and Father Thomas M. Adams, 30, who were last heard from over Beaton River, halfway between Fort St. John, B. C., and Fort Nelson, B.C.

The two men were en route to Alaska for a vacation.

An air force Albatross continued the search Monday in an area 600 miles northwest of Edmonton. It was joined by an Air Force Otter from Edmonton.

Extension Approved Of Emergency Powers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House sent to the Senate by voice vote Monday a bill to extend to June 30, 1966, the President's emergency powers to deal with a surprise attack on this country.

The powers were granted originally in 1950 and have been extended for four-year periods since then.

Can't Ignore Realities of Common Market

NEENAH — The political realities of the common market are too important for Americans to ignore, Roger Christiansen, of the foreign sales department, Kimberly - Clark Corp., told the Neenah - Menasha Optimist Club Tuesday noon at Valley Inn. Introduced by Robert Lord, Christiansen declared that although economic aspects of the common market have been emphasized, "actually political aims are more fundamental to its success or failure." The crux of the matter is federalism versus sovereign nationality, he said. An "underswell" of opinion contends that the idea of sovereign nation is unworkable in our world, where the concept of two great nuclear powers facing each other, negates a community of nations. Christiansen quoted Jean Monnet, French advocate of European unity, as saying, "Union is not an end in itself, only a beginning." Close co-operation between Europe and the U.S. is essential, he contended and economics is a recurrent theme.

Sales Woman Gets 3 Days, Fine for Magazine Fraud

Sales "gimmicks" which she learned as she traveled from Philadelphia to Wisconsin have the customers' knowledge. The sales crews used this practice to accumulate points needed for special bonuses from the company, Miss Queen explained. Miss Sandra Queen was sentenced to three days in jail and fined $25 and costs when she was found guilty of fraud after pleading no contest in County Court, Branch 2 Tuesday. Miss Queen told the court she was taught to fabricate stories about working her way through school and to "drop" important names of local citizens in front of the customers to whom she was attempting to sell magazines. The sales woman was arrested in Green Lake County last month on a fraud charge. She was later charged with fraud in Appleton after selling an Appleton housewife a $22 magazine subscription for $34. Miss Queen said the extra charge on the magazine subscription was used to extend the customer's current subscriptions over

Oshkosh Firm Gets Contract For Sewers

$17,141 Low Bid For Storm Project By Appleton Board

S. J. Kienast Co., Oshkosh was awarded a $17,000 contract by Appleton's board of public works Tuesday for storm sewer work. The work will be done at a number of locations in the city. The firm's bid of $17,141 was the lowest of four received. Highest bid was from Lloyd Kispert and Sons, for $28,043. In another case, board members decided to liquidate the bid bond of McHugh and Coppens Co., because the firm has refused to sign a storm sewer contract.

Asked More Money

The firm notified the board that although it was awarded the contract on its low bid it didn't want the job unless it was paid 15 per cent more. There are certain expensive aspects of the job of which it wasn't fully aware, officials of the company said. Permanent shoring must be installed in one location in order not to disturb water and gas mains. The city refused to pay the extra 15 per cent, which would have raised the cost of the job to $19,861.

Works board members chose to award the contract to the second low bidder, Central Construction, Oshkosh, for $116,646. When the McHugh and Coppens bond is liquidated the net cost to the city will be about $112,13.

No Change Allowed

The board reasoned it is not wise to start allowing bidders to raise their price once the bids have been opened. For a time the board thought it might reject all bids and re-advertise. But the time element involved would push the project back more than a month.

At a previous board session a McHugh and Coppens official said his firm didn't realize the amount of shoring that would be necessary when their bid was computed. He indicated it would have been higher if the firm had realized the situation fully.

Condition of Crash Victims Remains Serious

OSHKOSH — The condition of Jerry Moen, 19, 1204 S. Park Ave., Neenah, and William F. Stinski, 18, 777 Reed St., Neenah, injured in an automobile accident Monday morning, was reported this morning as slightly improved but still very serious.

A third passenger in the car, Michael J. Verstegen, 19, 626 Stevens St., Neenah, was killed instantly. His death was the ninth for Winnebago County this year.

Moen received a possible skull fracture, fracture of the right leg, deep lacerations of the head and bruises. His condition is quite serious.

Stinski received an eye injury in addition to cuts and bruises and a concussion. His condition also is listed as serious but improved.

The two youths are confined at Mercy Hospital, Oshkosh. They were thrown from the car when it went into a ditch on County Trunk A north of Oshkosh and broke off a highway sign and utility pole before overturning.

Wrightstown Man Dies in Green Bay

Frank M. Krautkramer, 58, a longtime Wrightstown businessman, died Tuesday in Green Bay after suffering a heart attack.

Krautkramer was born June 2, 1904 in Wrightstown and was proprietor of the Joseph Krautkramer and Sons Chevrolet Dealers there. He was in the business for more than 30 years.

Survivors include his wife, three sons, three brothers and three sisters.

A solemn requiem mass will be said at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Paul Catholic Church, Wrightstown, with burial in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the DeWane Funeral home, Wrightstown, after 7:30 p.m. today. The rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today.

Former Papal Palace Damaged by Explosion

MADRID (AP) — A bomb exploded at the former palace of the papal nuncio Tuesday, explosives said.

The explosion damaged the front gate, the staircase and a huge lamp hanging from the ceiling, but caused no casualties, witnesses said. Police refused to comment.

The 100-year-old stone palace is now used by the Vatican's Rota Tribunal and the Spanish armed forces vicar general.

New Chairman of Kaukauna Debris County Petroleum Piled Near Road Council Elected Brings Complaint

Joseph H. Marston of Appleton was elected chairman of the Outagamie County Petroleum Council Tuesday.

The Council adopted a resolution to oppose any further increases in the gasoline tax and any other highway user taxes. Thirty-seven oil men were present.

Other officers elected are Joseph Kroner, vice chairman, and Jerome May, secretary, both from Appleton.

Committee assignments were: public relations, Frank Reese, Appleton; Herbert Mitchell, Kaukauna; and Ervin Mueller, Seymour; legislation, Barney Hietpas, Kaukauna; Robert Malchow, Appleton; and Art J. Smith, Kimberly; local affairs, D. A. Leiby, Dale; and D. M. Coonen, Seymour; and school committee, George Schirmacher and Clifford Andrews, both of Appleton, and M. T. Fanning, Hortonville.

Fred M. Elliott, executive secretary of the Wisconsin Petroleum Council, Madison, discussed the proposed tax increases in fuel and registration fees.

Conduct Charge Appeal Dropped By Union Chief

James W. Brockhaus, 30, 1507 Lehmann Lane, Appleton, who was found guilty April 25 of disorderly conduct during a labor dispute at the Appleton Coated Paper Co. in August, 1961, withdrew his appeal to Circuit Court Tuesday.

Brockhaus was fined $100 or 30 days in jail when he appeared before Judge Raymond P. Dohr sitting in County Court, Branch 12.

Brockhaus was president of the local union which was engaged in a strike at the Appleton Coated Paper Co. Aug. 16 when he was arrested for putting an oil solution on railroad tracks near the plant. Brockhaus pleaded innocent of the charge and was found guilty by a 12-man jury.

Kaukauna officials indicated about 75 truck loads of the material was delivered to a township resident who wanted to spread the matter on his fields. The resident asked that it be deposited near the highway and indicated he would load the material

When township officials contacted the party requesting the debris, he indicated the material would remain piled for about two years before it was effective for use as fertilizer. Township officials complained of the unsightliness and the Kaukauna clerk was told to write the party and ask him to remedy the situation or the city would be forced to reload the material and haul it away.

To Your Good Health

Not All Kidney Cases Require Diet Control

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had nephritis (kidney disease) for a long time. About eight years ago I was told that one kidney was functioning about 40 per cent and the other 60, and my doctor said to be sure to have protein at each meal.

Now another Molner doctor has advised a low-protein diet and to go easy on meat because of the nitrogen content — just the opposite. Could you explain this contradiction? — MRS. K.J.

This apparent contradiction, I suspect, is understandable. You see, not all nephritis cases require diet control. In fact, if there is albumin in the urine, but no retention of nitrogen in the blood, this indicates a loss of protein through the kidneys while at the same time meaning that the body is not getting too much protein.

In such cases, the patient is encouraged to eat more protein, to make up for that being lost.

If, however, a rise in nitrogen in the blood develops, then the opposite becomes true. Curtailment of protein is advisable.

In a period of years, it is possible for the kidney situation to change, and what once was right now becomes wrong.

That's why you should not be disturbed over the apparent contradiction.

Diet in this condition (as well as in so many others) needs to be tailored to the patient. We don't have a kidney diet that fits everybody. And your doctor, knowing your exact condition, is the one to decide what's right for you.

In passing, let's keep in mind that a low-protein diet isn't a no-protein diet. Some is required for your basic nutritional needs.

Likewise the amount of salt in your diet, and the amount of liquid you consume cannot be taken from any set of rigid rules. It is dependent, rather, on the presence of swelling, and other indications of how well your kidneys are handling the removal of fluids for you.

Dear Dr. Molner: Will Vitamin A tablets, taken daily, help clear the skin of blotches? Is it possible to take an overdose? If so, what is the result? I am a teenager and others are wondering the same things. — S.

Not long ago I wrote about acne, skin blemishes, etc. Yes, sometimes Vitamin A helps, but sometimes it does no good at all.

The reason appears to be that some individuals do not absorb or utilize Vitamin A properly, so extra doses are a waste of time and money. (Vitamin is plentiful in yellow fruits and vegetables, eggs, margarine, butter, milk, and fish oils.)

Overdosage of Vitamin A can cause yellowness of the skin, especially the palms of the hands. Reducing the dose lets this color fade gradually.

Dear Dr. Molner: My husband and I are 65. At 10 a.m. and again at 3 p.m. we each drink an 8-ounce cup of skim milk. How much water should we drink in addition to stay healthy? — Mrs. W.S.D.

There's no fixed amount. Some authorities say an average adult needs about five pints a day, but remember, you get it from other sources. Half to three-quarters of our food is water (by weight). Fruits and vegetables contain a lot. Therefore it's hard to realize how much fluid you are taking in (thirstier.) to your system. But Nature provides a wonderful regulator: just drink when you're thirsty. (If you perspire in hot weather, you'll be thirstier.) (Copyright 1962)

Kaukauna Road Bids Referred To Engineer

Six Proposals Made For Permanent Work On Sewers' Paving

KAUKAUNA — The board of public works Monday referred permanent road bids and sewer project bids to the city engineer for study, tabulation and recommendation.

Six bids were received on the permanent road work, calling for 31,400 square yards of concrete paving on W. Eighth, 19th, Island, Idelwild, Margaret, Desnoyer and Leher Lane.

Alternate bids also were received for asphalt pavement and curb and gutter.

Total bids ranged from a low of $127,801 to a high of $138,399. Sewer project bids ranged from a low of $15,192 to a high of $22,934. Sewer work is scheduled in various sections of the city and calls for 1,290 feet of 12-inch storm sewer, 575 feet of 18-inch sanitary sewer, 360 feet of 8-inch sanitary sewer besides manholes, catchbasins and other sewer project work.

Sewer Extension
The city engineer was instructed to draw plans for extension of sewer and water service to the new Badger Northland building on U. S. 41 and State 55. The board requested Town of Vandenberg officials to study a possible dump site proposed by a township resident for use by Kaukauna.

Three citizens living on Harrison Street requested the board to study the possibility of a storm sewer or other method to help alleviate water conditions in the area. They say much rural area was draining onto their property and causing considerable flooding. Board members agreed to meet at the site to determine what could be done.

Fogging Machine
Fourth Ward Alderman Gilbert Anderson received the support of five other aldermen in having the health and recreation committee authorized to purchase a fogging machine. Cost of the machine is not to exceed $500 and the purchase is to be made prior to Labor day, according to Anderson's motion.

Some opposition was noted to the idea. Four aldermen explained a spray program was about to get underway in the city, and this would solve the mosquito problem. Anderson felt a fogging machine could cover a larger area in less time, thus providing added comfort to many citizens.

Giants Romp to 11-4 Victory Over Chicago

Bobble on Possible Triple Play Leads To 5-Run Eighth

CHICAGO (AP)—A bobble on what could have been a triple play blossomed into a five-run San Francisco eighth inning as the first-place Giants romped to an 11-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

Lefty Billy O'Dell hurled his seventh National League victory against three losses and also his seventh complete game, striking out 10 as he scattered five hits. After Felipe Alou's leadoff homer in the eighth, two Giants walked and then Jose Pagan lined a shot directly into the hands of shortstop Andre Rodgers only a few steps from second base.

But Rodgers, who easily could have doubled up both runners, dropped the ball. He conceivably could have had an unassisted triple play because the runner from first almost had reached second.

After that, doubles by Harvey Kuenn and Willie Mays, and a single by Chuck Hiller, rounded out the five-run spree by the Giants, who also had a four-run spurge in the third inning.

Buhl is Loser
The loser was Bob Buhl, who was charged with the big eighth in which only one of the five Giants' runs was earned, that being Alou's seventh homer.

The Giants launched their seventh victory in eight starts against the Cubs this season with a four-run third in which Orlando Cepeda's bases-loaded pop single in short center drove across two runs.

The first Cub start under new head coach Charley Metro didn't get out of hand until the big Giant eighth when Chicago trailed only 5-4.

The Cubs got a run in the third on an error, a walk and infield out and Ron Santo's single in the bottom of the third.

San Francisco moved ahead 5-1 in the top of the fourth on Pagan's double, a sacrifice and a double play. But the Cubs got another tally in the fourth as George Altman singled and scored on Ken Hubbs' double.

The Cubs got two more in the fifth on Santo's homer after Rodgers singled.

Rodgers started the game knowing he will be replaced at short Wednesday by Alex Grammas, acquired in a four-player deal with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Clemson's Howard Accuses Dietzel Of 'Piracy' in Recruiting Case

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—New Army coach Paul Dietzel has lured two of South Carolina's top prep football prospects to West Point and cries of piracy prompted by the South Carolina intercollegiate.

Both boys—Curtis Lindler of Lower Richland High, a fullback, and Wayne Page of Lake View, a halfback—already had signed college grants-in-aid. Lindler at South Carolina and Page at Clemson.

"It is a down right outrage," said coach Frank Howard, who for more than 20 years has considered South Carolina hallowed domain from which to draw the bulk of his Clemson players.

"This thing makes me not want to pay taxes. Because this guy's (Dietzel) using my money to get my football players," said Howard.

Already Signed
Howard accused Dietzel of inviting Lindler and Page to visit West Point, knowing that they already had signed athletic grants-in-aid.

"I always thought West Point taught young men to have integrity," Howard said. "But you can't expect them to have any when they are started off on the wrong foot like Dietzel's teaching them to do. That's nothing but hitting below the belt."

South Carolina coach Marvin Bass was less vehement, saying "You can't blame the boy for going to West Point. You have to blame the people who are trying to take him away."

Cards Chase Purkey, Erase 9 to 1 Deficit

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan (The Man) Musial, who had cut down a runner at the plate with a perfect peg in the fourth inning, capped an eight-run comeback by St. Louis Tuesday night with an 11th-inning home run that put an end to the Cardinals' losing streak at eight with a 10-9 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Musial's homer, his 450th in the majors, was his sixth of the season. It came with one out and the bases empty off losing reliever Dave Sisler and bounced off the pavilion roof in right field.

The Cardinals' last six runs came on homers, with Bill White and Kan Boyer connecting for the other five in the seventh inning. Musial's shot gave the victory to Lindy McDaniel, sixth Redbird pitcher, after the lean right-hander had blanked the Reds on three hits for four innings.

White slammed a three-run homer in the seventh and Boyer followed with a two-run blast after Musial singled. White's homer sent Bob Purkey to the showers, spoiling the Cincy's right-hander's bid for his 10th victory.

Musial's defensive strike came after the Reds had chased starter Curt Simmons with four runs in the third for a 4-1 lead. An error and two walks loaded the bases for the Reds against Ray Wertzburn in the fourth when Don Zimmerman sent a fly to left. Musial made the catch and fired home

Menasha '9' Now Has 2-1 FRVL Record

MORRISON — Little Chute-Kimberly's protest of a Fox River Valley Baseball League game with the Menasha Macs May 27 was upheld by league directors at a heated, 3½-hour meeting here Tuesday night.

The protest was upheld by a 5-1 secret ballot vote of the other six teams in the league. LCK protested the game in the seventh inning when Menasha substituted a pinch hitter who was not listed on the player roster. Menasha manager Carl Springer maintained through the meeting that he and Little Chute-Kimberly manager, Rog Vander Wyl, agreed before the game that each team had several players in uniform who were not on the roster, but that they would be allowed to play in the game.

At the time of the protest, LCK was leading 6-4 and the Macs went on to eventually win the game by a 7-6 score.

Upholding of the protest means the Macs forfeit the game, thus reducing their record from a co-leading mark of three wins and no losses to a 2-1 mark. Little Chute-Kimberly climbed into a share of the lead with Freedom as both teams have 3-0 marks.

Ban on Canned Beverages At County Stadium Lifted

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Fans of even less, at package stores and the Milwaukee Braves and the taverns. Green Bay Packers had the green light again today to pack their coolers with six packs and go out to the ball game.

Repeal of a ban on carrying beer and other canned beverages into County Stadium, home of the Braves and site of Milwaukee "home" games of the Packers, was voted 14-10 Tuesday by the County Board.

Although it went against recommendation of the County Park Commission, which favored retention of the canned beverage ban, the board kept in force the section of the ordinance barring the carrying of bottled goods into the stadium.

Supervisor Cornelius Jankowski, a leader in the repeal movement, contended it was not fair to prevent the "workmen" from taking their beer to the stadium when he could buy it cheaper outside. A 12-ounce bottle of beer, emptied into a cup, sells for 30 cents at the ball park. A six pack can be obtained for a $1.00, and

The Braves used four pitchers Tuesday night, but they weren't enough as the Houston Colts pounded out a 13-hit attack for a 7-1 victory to snap a three-game Milwaukee winning streak.

The Braves hurlers also contributed six walks, a hit batter and a pair of wild pitches to their downfall.

Ron Piche started the game undefeated but left after an inning and a third with his first defeat against three victories. Piche was banged for four hits and four

Cosgrove Hurls 10-3 Triumph

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Sports Editor

Pitcher Steve Cosgrove is beginning to justify the confidence Baltimore's Orioles placed in his potential when they drafted him from the Milwaukee chain in the face of an 0-9 record for 1961.

Cosgrove Tuesday night pitched his second win—and his second complete game—as Baltimore's Fox Cities affiliate con-

The Foxes, who have now won four in a row (two on the road and two at home), stretched their Goodland Field success string to seven straight games. The win, in conjunction with Keokuk's loss, moved the Foxes to the top of the second division — their highest perch of the month-old season.

Players Start Voting June 22 For 'Star Game'

Washington, Chicago To Be Sites of 1962 Contests

NEW YORK (AP)—The balloting for the players to represent the American and National Leagues in the two 1962 All-Star Games will begin June 22 and conclude June 28, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick announced Tuesday.

The first 1962 game will be played in Washington's brand new District of Columbia Stadium on Tuesday, July 10. The second game is scheduled for Chicago's Wrigley Field on Monday, July 30. Starting time has been set for 1 p.m., local time.

As in the past few years the players will select the starting lineups, exclusive of pitchers, in their own league. The only restriction is that they cannot vote for players on their own team. The squad will be chosen by the manager.

The two games will mark the 32nd and 33rd between the two leagues since the mid-summer spectacle was inaugurated in 1933. This marks the fourth successive year of the two-All Star Game practice. There was no All-Star Game in 1945.

The American League holds a 16-14 edge in victories. The only tie game took place last year when rain halted proceedings in Boston after nine innings with the score deadlocked at 1-1. The Nationals took the first game 5-4 in San Francisco.

The price of tickets will be the same as last year, except from standing room, reduced from $4 to $2.

Box seats will sell for $5, reserves $6, general admission $4 and bleachers $2. The host clubs will make their own announcements on how and when the tickets may be purchased.

The 14 by Quick, formerly on the staff of Tripoli Country Club in Milwaukee, put him in a tie with Tommy Veech of Milwaukee, Edgar Updegraff, Tucson, Ariz., and amateurs Dale Morey of Morgantown, N. C., and Sam Carmichael, Martinsville, Ind.

Los Angeles Cops, Curfew Suspends Second Contest

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Sparked by the slugging of Willie Davis and the pitching of Stan Williams and Larry Sherry, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 Tuesday night in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

The Dodgers led 7-3 in the second game which was suspended after eight innings because of the National League curfew. The game will be continued Wednesday night prior to the Pirates.

Bout Postponed Because of Eye Injury to Machen

NEW YORK (AP)—The heavy-weight fight between Eddie Machen and Cleveland Williams, scheduled for Madison Square Garden and national television Saturday night, was postponed Monday because Machen reopened an old eye cut in training.

A substitute match, Denny Moyer of Portland, Ore., and Teddy Wright of Detroit, was announced instead.

It will be a 10-rounder, at 150 pounds.

Wright 25, beat Phil Moyer. Denny's 23-year-old brother, two weeks ago, when Phil substituted for Denny, who was ill with an ear infection.

Now the younger Moyer, 22, will get a crack at Wright in Denny's last outing. In February, he outpointed Sugar Ray Robinson in 10 rounds and practically finished Robinson's career.

Dud's Inn took over first place with a 33-30 victory over Hillside Bar and in the other game Jerry's Lanes edged Hillside Bar, 15-13.

Dud's rapped out 37 base hits, including seven homers, in the high scoring victory. The losing Hillside team had 36 hits with Jack Buiton getting seven for seven.

Jerry's Lanes was outlit, 22-16, the defending champion in the 20-bat won the game on errors and team field. Single elimination walks. Top hitter of the game play will be conducted this year. Proceeds from the meet are used for promoting local athletics.

'Birdie' Frets About Hurlers' Wildness

Says He Wasn't Impressed By Bruce's Showing

HOUSTON (AP)—Milwaukee Braves Manager Birdie Tebbetts said Tuesday night he wasn't much impressed by Houston right-hander Bob Bruce but admitted he was concerned over the flop of his own pitchers.

The Colts bombed three of four Milwaukee hurlers in taking a 7-1 decision in the opener of a three-game series.

Tebbetts said the wildness of Ron Piche, Tony Cloninger and Jack Curtis "wrecked us," and added, "This is the first time we've had trouble with control all season. All three were way off."

Starter Piche lasted only 1 1/3 innings and took his first defeat after three victories. Cloninger didn't retire a batter and Curtis gave up nine of the 13 Houston hits.

Tebbetts also was bothered by the loss, which snapped a three-game Milwaukee winning streak, part of a record of five victories in seven starts.

"If we had won the three games here we might have passed the Cardinals and been right on the heels of Pittsburgh," Tebbetts said. "Now we're only a game and a half ahead of the Houston and we have to win one of the two left to stay ahead of them."

Remain Sixth

The Braves remained sixth, 14 1/2 games off the pace of league-leading San Francisco and trailed St. Louis by 2 1/2 games.

Bruce, taking his third triumph against one loss, fanned 10 Braves for the second time this season, but Tebbetts said, "I'm unimpressed."

"He got us out on a lot of soft stuff," Tebbetts said. "All you have to do is look at our batting line averages and you've got the answer." Four of the Milwaukee regulars were hitting .214 or less Bradley 9-4.

243 is second lowest in the league.

Houston Manager Harry Craft was delighted by Bruce, who spent nine years in the Detroit Tiger organization before he was obtained by the Colts.

"He always had a good curve," Craft said, "but didn't use it enough."

Bruce's comment was that the traditional Houston humidity "was killing me." He added that "with that big lead I just got the ball over toward the end."

Houston outfielder Al Spangler, another of the long list of former Braves who has come back to haunt his old pals, was asked if his first-inning leadoff homer was his biggest thrill. The homer was only Spangler's second in the majors.

His answer was no and he explained that his biggest baseball kick was his first homer last week off Vernon Law in Pittsburgh.

Cards Obtain B. G. Smith in Deal With Cubs

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, reeling under a 2-week losing streak that dumped them from second to fifth place, obtained right-handed hitting outfielder Bobby Gene Smith.

General Manager Bing Devine—who Monday said part of the trouble with the club was his failure to make certain trades—traded shortstop Alex Grammas and outfielder Don Landrum to the Chicago Cubs for Smith and shortstop Daryl Robertson.

Robertson is on option from the Cubs to San Antonio of the Texas League. The Cards will option him to Tulsa, Okla., of the Texas League and at the same time will purchase from Tulsa Dal Maxvill, 23.

Minding Your Business

SIDE-STEP SLASHING COMPETITION WITH SHARP SPECIALIZED THRUST

DEAR CY: Our company markets mixes. We have ice cream mixes and frozen custard mixes. We are practically at the mercy of our larger competitors who set prices and even negotiate the labor contracts we must follow. Their volume is much larger than ours, and we are being squeezed tighter and tighter. This year, we may make hardly anything.

What is the answer to competing with large companies who practically control your business through their dominant positions?

THALMAN: DEAR UNDER FORTY: No employer wants a bossy super-opinionated employee, above or below 40. Had a job interview lately?

DEAR CY: I like to fish and I like to work. For 25 years, I have wanted to be my own boss. Now, as I near the line for a final decision on a deal involving the purchase of a drive-in, I am getting shaky. I wonder how really enterprising I am. Is self-employment becoming a bigger and bigger thing? Would I have much leisure with a drive-in?

SLATER: Fishing and keeping a drive-in hopping don't mix as you'd think. To protect your net, you have to be at your drive-in as many hours as you can physically handle. If "business starts" are any index (and I think they are), business enterprise is on the upsurge. In 1950, there were 344,000 new businesses. Ten years later, the total was 443,000, a gain of 28.75 per cent.

CY: Trigger the money-making power within you—with the booklet, "The Gold Mine Between Your Ears." Send 20c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope by Cy Barrett, c/o this newspaper.

500 Dairy Queen operators buy ingredients through the home office.

DEAR CY: I am getting sick of these women over 40 crying on your shoulder about not being able to get a job. They don't have any sympathy coming. I am just over 30, and, although not working now, have worked in the plant and office with women of all ages. Those over 40 never look at themselves or how they act or take suggestions. Some are so set in their ways, you can't bug them with a plastic bomb.

DEAR THALMAN: Compartment yourself from competition and control your distribution. If you were a small firm in the shampoo business, would you go after the fattest slice of the market? You'd be smarter to shave off a specialized part where you could enjoy some authority.

Dairy Queen showed how a newcomer (in your industry) can grow enormously through exercising some control over their distribution system. By law, Dairy Queen cannot force their retailers to buy their soft ice cream mixes. Instead, they offer the boys on the cash register line so many helpful services that 3,000 operators buy ingredients through the home office.

Many Top Students Graded Unfairly in Accelerated Classes

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D. (Professor of Education, University of Southern California 5½ pt)

Many high schools have set up special, accelerated classes to provide the best possible education for gifted students. Some of these special classes, however, defeat their own purpose. Take the case of Roger and Jim, typical high school seniors. Roger's grades show a C average. Jim gets high B grades with youngsters to earn the grades they many A's. Jim would appear to deserve a better possibility to succeed. The teacher may also have a subconscious fear of staff criticism. To many, it may seem an indication of personal softness to award many high grades, regardless of the quality of the work. Finally, the teacher may have an inner feeling of inadequacy and for that reason he when faced by a classroom of gifted students and take refuge in something called "grading on a superior work but gets only average grades."

The cause may lie, not with Roger, but with his teacher, who may have a misplaced idea of classroom standards. Fear of criticism personally upsets me. Therefore Students of top ability already are grouped together in the accelerated class, yet the teacher feels duty-bound to give only a limited number of top grades. Thus, some accelerated classes feel duty-bound to give only a limited number of top grades. Thus, some accelerated classes feel duty-bound to give only a limited number of top grades. Thus, some accelerated classes feel duty-bound to give only a limited number of top grades.

Refugee Family Arrives in U. S.

CHICAGO (AP)—The first family of Chinese refugees admitted under President Kennedy's new emergency admission program arrived in Chicago Tuesday after a flight from Hong Kong.

The new arrivals are See Sue-eng, 45, his wife Yung Sue-san, and three of their four children. They have been trying to come to the United States since applying for entry in 1955.

"This is the happiest day of my life," Eng announced through an interpreter.

"I am very happy that President Kennedy issued the refugee act and gave me and my family a chance to come to America to see my father and to take care of his business."

Eng plans to assume management of a restaurant operated for many years in suburban Park Ridge by his father, Frank Jing Eng, 79. The elder Eng, critically ill in a hospital, left China in 1916 and had never seen his son until 1959 when he visited Hong Kong.
